LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom it May Concern

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines After examining all other systems of fire protection and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful as well as perfect, fire protection for theaters ever invented In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property

Respectfully,
H. I. GOLDY,
Owner Windsor Theater, Chicago, Ill.

See What a Practical Fireman Says.

Tacoma Wash. Sept. 19, 1889.

To Whom it May Concern

This is to certify that I, George A Burbank witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day, and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City Boston, Mass and other large cities in the East I hereby state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started, for in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred and I take great pleasure in recommending the Lindgren as far superior to any other chemical engine on the market

(Signed) GEORGE A BURBANK,
Secretary Paid Fire Department.
Director of the Northwestern Fire Association.
Was last year Secretary of the Northwestern Fireman's Association.

The above engines are made in one, three and five gallon sizes for hand use, sixty gallon single tank on two wheels, two eighty-gallon tanks on four wheels, sixty one hundred, three hundred and five hundred gallon stationary, other sizes made to order.

UNWILLING WITNESS.

Edward Spellman Contradicts Former Sworn Statements.

HIS TESTIMONY IN CONTROVERSY

It is Thrown out on that Ground by Judge McConnell.

EVIDENCE AGAINST O'SULLIVAN

Resume of the Work thus far Accomplished—The Lines Tightening about Coughlan, Burke and the Ice Man.

CHICAGO, Nov 4—The first witness in the Cronin trial this morning was Edward Spellman, of Peoria, Ill. district officer of Illinois and Michigan As the examination proceeded it became evident that he was an unwilling witness, and that his testimony was different from that which he gave before the grand jury, and from what the prosecution expected He said that he met Beggs April 29 who said that the matter referred to in their correspondence, viz, that the proceedings of the trial committee had been had in a certain camp in violation of the rules, had been amicably settled Witness then said that he knew Dan Coughlin, who with a man named Kunze, had visited Peoria a year ago and presented a letter of introduction He had no conversation with Coughlin about Dr Cronin This was in direct contradiction of Spellman's previous testimony and he was asked by Longenecker if he had not sworn that Coughlin spoke to him about Dr Cronin There was a long wrangle over this question which was finally allowed and Spellman answered "I said before the grand jury that in conversation with Coughlin in Peoria he said that Cronin was a — — — ——, but on reflection and on consultation with two other men present, I sent my attorney to Chicago to notify the district attorney that I was mistaken My attorney was unable to find Judge Longenecker, and I came myself especially to Chicago and notified Judge Longnecker and the other counsel that if they asked me that question on the stand I should have to deny it in order to do justice to myself and to the facts After I left the grand jury room and went home and slept I felt annoyed and troubled I felt that I had possibly done wrong to Coughlin and I went immediately to Pallous & Downs and told them what I had sworn to before the grand jury, and that I was bothered about it They said 'Spellman, you have made a mistake. No such conversation took place'"

Witness said in reply to a question, that he had seen Alexander Sullivan before going to the state's attorney's office but that he went there because he had been informed that Sullivan was talking very harshly about him, and that his visit was not in connection with the case. The correspondence between Beggs and Spellman was then read

During the cross examination Mr Spellman was asked if Beggs ever spoke to him about the charges against Cronin in any way He replied that a great deal was said about Cronin but that to place it upon any one matter at any one period he could not do at this time

"Was it not because of his organization of another camp?"

"No," he replied, "because he was always anxious to prefer charges He was a kind of agitator he was honest, not a bad fellow, although he would have his own way If not"

Mr Hyde here objected to any such statement as Cronin was dead and could not respond

Spellman said that no charges were made by Beggs against any individual in his official position as senior guardian

The defense moved to exclude from the record all of the questions and answers in regard to which it was testified to before the grand jury A lengthy debate ensued on this point in the course of which it was stated that Spellman had subscribed $100 towards the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Cronin and that he had paid $ 30 of this It was intimated that the testimony of the grand jury was given when he was in one frame of mind, and that the present attitude was the result of consultation with his friends The court finally said that authorities might be brought in on the point

At the afternoon session the cross examination was resumed and witness was asked a number of questions regarding the object of the visit of Kunz to Peoria with Coughlin and as to whether it had any connection with Cronin Spellman said that it had not as far as he knew although he had no conversation with Kunz there Coughlin as yet had no connection with Cronin, and a reference of the counsel led to the inference that it was in connection a fight between a Chicago distillery and the whisky trust

John A Mahoney a justice of the peace, testified that he was present in the hall at Lakeview March last, when Cronin instituted a camp of the Clan na Gael After the meeting the ice man, O'Sullivan asked witness about Cronin's standing as a physician and receiving a favorable reply arranged for witness to visit Cronin with him to make arrangements of the latter to care for O'Sullivan's men This arrangement was made about the middle of April and O'Sullivan gave Cronin some of his business cards saying that if the doctor was wanted when he (O'Sullivan) was out of town or sick one of these cards would be presented

At the afternoon session Judge McConnell said that he had considered Spellman's testimony to be in controversy and had decided to exclude it

Mrs Addie J Farrar testified as to the conversation of herself and O'Sullivan after Cronin's body was found She asked O'Sullivan "was it not a terrible murder?"

The woman hesitated a moment, then said "He replied, They say he was a British spy"

Mrs Farrar asked, "Well why should they kill him?"

O'Sullivan said "He gave away the secrets of the order If a man did that he ought to be killed If he did that he got no more than he deserved"

Three policemen from the Lakeview district testified to having seen a wagon occupied by three men late on the night of May 4 and noticing a trunk or box in the body of the wagon

John Way another policeman testified that about 1 o'clock on the morning of May 5 he saw two men walking east toward the lake followed by a wagon driven by another man Witness questioned the driver who said that they wanted to go to Chicago and were looking for the lake shore drive The other two men then came back from the beach and the policeman gave them the proper directions

A REVIEW OF THE CASE.

Strong Circumstantial Evidence Against Coughlin, Burke and O'Sullivan

CHICAGO Nov 4—A concise statement of what has been done in the Cronin case to date is about as follows The hearing of testimony in the case has consumed ten days In that time the state has examined about seventy witnesses The case has been developed far enough to give some idea of how far the state will be able to go in proving matters which the prosecution promised should be proved [illegible] Longenecker's opening address [illegible] the trial began there was [illegible] the general idea that the murder was the result of a conspiracy more or less extended Just how far the state proposed to prove that the conspiracy was extended was not known until the case was opened by the state It was then seen that it proposed to prove it to the widest extent Although a great deal of testimony has been introduced nothing or next to nothing has yet been given showing the conspiracy to have been more extended than to include the prisoners on trial and [illegible]

[illegible] Dr Cronin was called from his office on North Clark [illegible] man said to [illegible] O'Sullivan's ice [illegible] responded to the call, because he was led to believe it was in pursuance of the contract he had made some time before with O'Sullivan that he left his office in company with a man an accurate description of whom has been given by a large number of witnesses but whose identity has not yet been made known that the two the doctor and the stranger drove north with the white horse and buggy which Dan Coughlin hired of Dinan the liveryman that Dr Cronin's body was found eighteen days later in a catchbasin in Lakeview and that death resulted from blows he had received about the head

As the case stands at present, it may be fairly stated as presenting a strong combination of circumstances against Coughlin, Burke and O'Sullivan—almost impregnable against the latter two—and nothing against Kunz, very little against Beggs and only the suggestion of that large and widespread conspiracy which Judge Longenecker promised in his opening speech that he would prove But there are many witnesses and much testimony is yet to be heard.

THE FATAL ELECTRIC FLUID.

A Horse Killed in New York, and Two Men Seriously Shocked.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—The electric light current this morning roasted a horse to death, threw the driver to the street and knocked a police sergeant senseless. The deadly current was carried to its victim through a telephone wire, on a big pole carrying numberless wires standing on Fourth avenue, at the corner of Twenty-eighth street

Some time this morning one of the wires of a telephone line fell to the street, and formed a loop across the down track of the Fourth-avenue railroad Soon after it fell Thomas Whelan, driver of a Herald delivery wagon came along The horse stepped on the wire and instantly came to a halt, and then sprang aside and fell The jolt to the vehicle threw Whelan to the street, and when he arose to his feet he received a shock which threw him prostrate into the gutter Regaining his feet again, the driver undertook to release the horse, but as soon as he touched the animal another shock passed through him He then comprehended the cause and lay still. Citizens who were attracted to the scene noticed flashes of blue flame emitting from the prostrate animal The flashes came from all parts of the horse's body, and the smell of burning flesh was perceptible half a block away Whelan was assisted to his feet, but the horse was given a wide berth The police established a guard at points sufficiently far from the roasting animal to warn all wayfarers from nearing the fatal spot Sergeant MacDonald came in contact with the wire, and fell to the pavement senseless Roundsman Cassidy went to the rescue, and when he caught hold of the sergeant's leg he received a shock which compelled him to release his hold. The second effort was more successful

OVERCOME BY THE COLD.

Three Cowboys Perish in a Blizzard in New Mexico

DENVER Col, Nov 4—One of the results of the terrible blizzards which swept over Eastern Colorado and Northern New Mexico Thursday and Friday of last week reached here to-day from Folsom New Mexico Thursday night Henry Miller the range foreman for Colonel R G Head, with several cowboys, camped near Sierra Grande with 1800 beef cattle which they were holding for the purpose of loading cars at Folsom the next day for the Eastern markets At 4 o'clock that morning a blizzard from the Northwest struck the herd, driving the cattle toward the Texas Panhandle the cowboys being unable to hold them The snow was so blinding that it was impossible to see fifty feet ahead Miller called his men together, and they started to follow the herd and attempt to keep them bunched, so far as possible It is not known how long the men succeeded in keeping with the maddened herd but they finally lost it, and the men became separated. Friday night one of them wandered into Head's home ranch half dead from cold and hunger He told his story and a rescuing party was immediately sent out, and Saturday afternoon the frozen bodies of Henry Miller Jos Martin and Charlie Jolly were found lying on the open plains not far from Folsom The other men succeeded in finding their way into the camp before they were overcome with the cold Miller has been foreman for Colonel Head for twelve years and came here from Louisiana. It is not known where Martin and Jolly are from

Minister Sol Hirsch Calls on the Secretary of State and is Pleased

WASHINGTON, Nov 4—Hon Sol Hirsch, of Oregon United States minister to Turkey has been in Washington to-day the guest of Senator Mitchell. He called at the state department to-day, and received final instructions from Secretary Blaine The minister had several questions to ask the secretary and was much pleased to find Mr Blaine full of information and ready to offer suggestions for his guidance Mr Hirsch's family is now in New York, and he will join them to-morrow He is very much improved in health and his journey eastward encourages him to believe that he will soon be quite robust

Senator Mitchell to-day called upon Postmaster General Wanamaker and urged that a greater allowance be given the postmaster at Tacoma for clerk hire and represented that the present force was inadequate for the great amount of business

Dr L Cleaver of Baker City, has been recommended by the same delegation for register of the same office

THE MISSOURI PACIFIC.

Wall Street Agitated Over the Mystery Concerning Its Affairs.

NEW YORK Nov 4.—The Times says Wall street has been much worried lately over the mystery in the affairs of the Missouri Pacific The price of the company's stock fell three points in the last two days of the week's business from causes that apparently nobody but an insider could understand It has been reported that Jay Gould has intimated that dividends upon the stock were about to be suspended This has sounded unreasonable for the reason that the quarterly dividend has just been paid and that the next one is not due for nearly two months There seems to be much more basis for the belief that a very substantial issue of bonds is to be made It has leaked out that Jay Gould George Gould and Russell Sage have claims "against the Missouri Pacific company" for moneys advanced etc aggregating $7 8[illegible]000 Other claims not openly held in the Gould Sage name are said to be of size enough to make a total of $10 000,000 which is the amount of the bonds now said to be ready to be issued

THE ENGINEERS' CONVENTION.

An Important Amendment to the Constitution Adopted—Adjourned

DENVER, Nov 4—The locomotive engineers to-day considered and adopted the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws The report disposed of only a few minor motions and resolutions Every important amendment to the constitution was adopted. Heretofore when a fireman was promoted to engineer he could not join the Brotherhood of Engineers without first resigning from the Brotherhood of Firemen The amendment adopted to-day allows a new fireman to join the Engineers and at the same time retain his membership with the Firemen

After some routine business in which complimentary resolutions to the citizens of Denver the local engineers and the railroads were adopted, the convention adjourned to meet at Pittsburg one year hence

STATEHOOD WITHHELD.

Washington Must Still Wait Upon the Anxious Seat.

CONSTITUTIONAL FLAW ALLEGED

Gov Moore's Name Not Signed to the Constitution.

THE DELAY WILL BE TEMPORARY

Appeals to the President—Public Excitement at the News—The Gathering Clans—Senatorial Hosts—Speakership Contest.

OLYMPIA Nov 4.—President Harrison claimed the attention of Governor Moore Governor-elect Ferry, supreme judges and the members of the legislature assembled here to-day The people are extremely anxious to don the habiliments of statehood, and last night the governor and governor-elect sent the following telegram to the president

OLYMPIA, Nov 3.

To President Harrison Our constitution requires the legislature to convene on the 6th inst. If the admission proclamation is not issued before that date serious complications will arise.

(Signed) MILES C MOORE, Governor.
E. P. FERRY, Governor-elect.

Great excitement prevailed this morning upon receipt of a telegram by Governor Moore, from President Harrison, as follows.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Nov 4.

To Miles C Moore, Governor of Washington Territory Olympia Wash Section 8 of the enabling act requires that the governor shall certify to the copy of the said constitution, etc. The copy sent is only certified to by the secretary Send another certified by you and attested by the secretary, with the seal attached (Signed)

BENJAMIN HARRISON

Chief Justice Hanford, who was one of the canvassing board, overlooked the document before Messenger Robinson started with it for the capital, but did not think that the governor's name was necessary President Harrison is technically right, and Governor-elect Ferry and the legislators do not complain They regret exceedingly that the admission of the state should be delayed, especially when it is considered Governor Moore wrote a letter to the president stating he had sent ten copies of the constitution and certified to the election returns.

It was plain that something would have to be done speedily, or Washington's admission would be delayed for some time It was problematical whether a certified copy of the constitution would reach President Harrison in time for him to issue the proclamation before next Saturday, so that Gov Ferry could be inaugurated on the Monday following in conformity with the law, if not Governor Ferry could not be inaugurated until two weeks from to-day

As soon as the news became noised about legislators quartered in the Carlton house gathered in knots and discussed the situation Opinions differed widely Good lawyers thought that the legislature could meet, proclamation or no proclamation, and elect senators while others held the contrary view

Governor-elect Ferry sat in the center of an interested group in the Carlton house and said that while the enabling act, authorized the legislature to meet, the constitution was in force and he advised a cautious course, saying he would not like to see the first step of the legislature of the new state go on record as unconstitutional. Then he went to Governor Moore's office and had a long talk with him They soon saw that the principal thing to be done was to send President Harrison another copy of the constitution Orders were given for its preparation and it was sent this afternoon Meanwhile something had to be done to avoid delay in the admission of the state and, with this in view, the following telegram was sent

OLYMPIA Nov 4.

President Harrison—I have this day mailed you a copy of the Constitution identical with that you have with the following certificate attached

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, }
TERRITORY OF WASHINGTON } ss

I Miles C Moore governor of said territory do hereby certify that the foregoing constitution, propositions, articles and ordinances adopted by the voters of said territory on the first Tuesday of October, eighteen hundred and eighty nine, have been compared with the originals deposited and now on file in the office of the secretary of said territory and that the same are a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original constitution, articles, propositions and ordinances.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of said territory to be affixed at Olympia this 4th day of November, A D 1889 (Seal)

MILES C MOORE Governor

[Attest] O C WHITE, Secretary

It is earnestly hoped you can issue the proclamation on the above certificate

(Signed) MILES C MOORE, Governor

Governor elect Ferry sent the appended telegram

OLYMPIA November 4.

President Harrison—Constitution, with proper certificate mailed to you this morning by Governor Moore and certificate by telegraph Can you not issue the proclamation upon that certificate?

E. P FERRY

POPULAR COMMENT

"What are we to do?" everybody asks. Section 24 of the Enabling Act for the four new states, empowered the constitutional convention to provide for a full state government, including members of the legislature and representatives in the Fifty-first congress but says plainly

"But such state government shall remain in abeyance until the states are admitted into the Union respectively, as provided in this act."

"Do you apprehend any serious consequences from omission?" was asked of Governor Moore this afternoon.

"I do not All President Harrison has to do is to satisfy himself of the authenticity of the certified copy of the constitution which was unfortunately sent to him without my signature He has power to do so and to issue the proclamation. I wish to say that all official documents, except those which go to foreign countries, are signed by the secretary of state only and in not signing the certificate I simply followed custom Chief Justice Hanford who drew up the certificate was of the opinion that my signature was not necessary"

"Can the legislature meet and elect senators before the proclamation is issued?"

"It can but as a territorial legislature There is nothing to prevent it electing senators. The United States senate is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members and if Washington's two senators have not been legally elected it may reject them While the legislature so sitting may elect senators it cannot pass laws The law is clear on that point I have sent a telegram to United States Attorney General Miller, asking him if my opinion in regard to the election of senators is correct"

Governor Moore is deeply moved over the accident. He said to-night it was the only unpleasant incident of his administration Appended is an extract from a letter which he sent to the president when the certified copy of the constitution was sent It is on this that Governor Moore bases his statement that President Harrison should have accepted the certified copy of the constitution [illegible] and have issued the proclamation

"That after the receipt of all election returns by said secretary on the 21st day of October 1889 the said governor, chief justice and secretary met as a canvassing board at Olympia and canvassed these returns, and made [illegible] which [illegible] duplicate [illegible] office of [illegible] secretary, and [illegible] certify as the result [illegible] the legal voters [illegible] constitution [illegible]"

MILES C MOORE, Governor

[illegible] hopes of hearing from President Harrison before saying anything [illegible] subject

"If President Harrison does not issue the proclamation do you think the legislature can meet on Wednesday?" he was asked

"It is an open question The enabling act authorizes the legislature to meet but the constitution which governs the state does not take effect until the proclamation is issued, after which the enabling act has no force. The enabling act must not conflict with the constitution of the state or of the United States

If the legislature does meet has it power to ballot for senators?

That is also an open question It has been [illegible] in a number of cases before and senators elected have been seated South Dakota elected its senators several days in advance of the proclamation It is better to be sure in such matters The senate being so close democrats might raise a point of the eligibility of the senators so elected and delay the business and appointment of committees"

Justice Dunbar of the supreme court said "The enabling act provides that the legislature shall meet and elect senators but does not say how or when Consequently a meeting of the legislature could only be held by universal consent of the members as to the time of meeting"

Up to 7 30 this evening, no word had been received from Washington and Governor Moore and Governor-elect Ferry have given up hope of getting word to-night They are confident that the morning will bring the glad tidings that President Harrison will issue the proclamation admitting Washington to statehood

Governor Moore received a telegram from United States Attorney General Miller to-night in reply to his inquiry as to whether the legislature could legally ballot for United States senators in advance of the issuance of the proclamation The governor declined to give the telegram to the press, but stated that the substance of it was that the attorney general felt that he was not authorized to deliver an opinion on the matter as there was no precedent for it

THE SPEAKERSHIP CONTEST

A three-cornered fight is going on for the speakership of the house The aspirants are Colonel John W Feighan of Spokane Falls J D Geoghegan, Vancouver and S C Herron, of Winlock Feighan is making a good fight and feels sure of success Geoghegan says his prospects are very fair, and Herron says there is no doubt of his election Feighan meets with opposition from the fact that Spokane Falls has a candidate for every office that is to be had It is said that his own delegation is not solid for him Geoghegan's friends claim two of them Geoghegan bases his hope on the fact that the Columbia river counties are entitled to something and have asked for nothing Feighan and his friends met this afternoon, and discussed the situation Herron claims the support of the King county delegation He is for Squire for United States senator

CAPITAL TALK

There is some talk of holding a republican caucus to-morrow night, but it has taken no definite shape

The few offices at the disposal of the house and senate are sought for by many Major C M Barton, THE OREGONIAN's Washington territory correspondent, is the only one named for the secretaryship of the senate, and his election is conceded Candidates for other places are Senate assistant secretary, J W Romain, Conconully, journal clerk R F Milroy, North Yakima door-keeper James A. Ross, Seattle sergeant at arms, Mr Clark, Spokane. In the house Chief clerk R G O'Brien Olympia Fred Puhler Cheney C E. Cline, Whatcom Justices Hoyt, Scott and Dunbar, of the supreme court are here They can do nothing until the proclamation is issued When this is done and Justices Anders and Stiles arrive, the court will organize and draw lots for terms, two to hold for three years, two for five and one for seven The three long term justices will then elect one of the three year judges chief justice

SENATORIAL ASPIRANTS

With the gathering of the legislators the senatorial fight has begun in earnest All the principal aspirants are here except Walter J Thompson of Tacoma, and S C Hyde, of Spokane Falls

F H Brents, of Walla Walla, was first on the field. He has been here since Friday and is making a strong fight. He is happy and confident. "I think my chances are brighter than ever," he said to-day

John B. Allen of Walla Walla, was the second aspirant to reach town He came Saturday and has been on the go ever since He is making his own fight. If one is to take for granted all that members now in town say Allen will have an easy time of it. While he was passing through the hall of Carlton House to-day gentlemen stopped him and asked him about his chances. "They grow brighter and brighter every day" he answered "Brents Hyde and Turner may form a combination against you" continued the gentleman "It will do them no good," was the ex delegate's answer "What do you think of your chances?" THE OREGONIAN correspondent asked Mr Allen this afternoon "They have now about reached the assurance of success" was Allen's answer "Our delegation is solid for Allen," said Representative J C Painter of Walla Walla to-night. "I look for his election on the first ballot I understand he will receive votes of all the counties south of Snake river" Allen has established his headquarters in the Woodruff building He has three rooms Brents's headquarters are in the Williams building Signs showing where Brents may be found are posted in all parts of the town

General J W Sprague of Tacoma, and Judge Turner of Spokane Falls arrived to-day to make their fights They say nothing

Samuel Collyer son of the famous Rev Robert Collyer, is here in the interest of Walter J Thompson, who is detained at Tacoma by the illness of his father

Ex Governor Watson C Squire of Seattle who seems to be in the lead for the Western Washington senatorship arrived this afternoon His wife has been here several days and his arrival was not unexpected He is suave and as full of confidence as ever "I am here to make my fight" he said to a reporter who talked with him "Yes I feel confident of my election" King county delegates who are here are working hard for Squire They say his election is a certainty

Among the arrivals by late boat from Seattle to-night was S. C Hyde one of the aspirants for the senate from Spokane Falls Mr Hyde did not care to talk of his chances until he has an opportunity to look over the field.

THE SITUATION DISCUSSED

Hope That the Technical Omission Will Not Delay the Proclamation

OLYMPIA Nov 4 —In spite of the trouble growing out of the technical omission of the governor's signature from the copy of the constitution sent to the president it is hoped that the proclamation will issue to-morrow and the legislature proceed to organize on Wednesday without trouble It appears that Governor Moore sent an autograph letter along with the certified copy of the constitution in which he gave details of the adoption of the document by the constitutional convention and the vote on the same by the people It is supposed that the authorities in Washington, instead of reading and considering the governor's letter have merely looked at the back of the certificate [illegible] that it is not regular The governor's accompanying letter starts out with the words "I certify" etc The letter of the governor is looked upon here by the best legal talent namely Governor Ferry and Judge Hoyt as a legal certificate of the adoption of the constitution and the organization of the two houses on Wednesday will doubtless proceed.

SENATORIAL ANXIETY

When the fact of the existence of the telegrams from Washington became known among the statesmen who had already arrived here, and rumors gained circulation that perhaps the legislature would not meet until on or about the 15th there was a flutter among the friends of the various senatorial candidates The feeling is to get a vote as soon as possible now that the men who [illegible] states senators are face to face with those who [illegible] to wear the toga There is an ardent desire by those who vote and those who are to be voted for to settle the business as soon as possible It is the general impression that no one will be elected senator on the first ballot and that while Allen and Squire may each poll a larger vote than any of the other candidates they will not have enough to win at the start What subsequent ballotings will determine no one seems to know But few of the members are outspoken as to whom they favor [illegible] two or three senatorial fights in the East and one of the legislators this morning "but I never saw one before where there was so much uncertainty as to who was going to win" The uncertainty does not obtain with the candidates themselves They all feel confident [illegible] the scriptural injunction Many are called and few are chosen A close friend to Mr [illegible] said to-night that he had sixty-seven votes pledged [illegible] Governor Squire [illegible] beat [illegible] of Mr Brents, Judge Turner and Mr Hyde [illegible] that Mr Allen cannot get sixty votes [illegible] mountains and that the [illegible] ballot will be a surprise to him The friends of Mr Thompson and General Sprague are sure that whoever [illegible] shows the most strength on the [illegible] ballot [illegible] the man [illegible] friends of Judge Turner and Mr Hyde from Spokane [illegible] Thompson of [illegible] is the only senatorial candidate [illegible] His father is lying very low at [illegible] son will not leave his bedside [illegible] headquarters [illegible]

THE CAMPAIGNS ENDED.

Much Interest Centering in To-day's State Elections.

SOME NATIONAL ISSUES AT STAKE

New York Republicans Said to Be Trading With the County Democracy in Order to Defeat Tammany

DAVENPORT Ia Nov 4—J J Richardson a member of the national democratic committee, was asked this evening by an Associated Press representative his views on the outcome of to-morrow's election in this state Mr Richardson said that during the past week he had received advices from all parts of Iowa assuring enough change if the correspondent is not misinformed to overcome the majority given Governor Larrabee two years ago In this part of the state Mr Richardson said many republicans declare that they vote for the democratic candidate on account of his pledged opposition to prohibitory legislation Mr Richardson is confident of the defeat of the republican state ticket and particularly its head Senator Hutchinson

REPUBLICANS EQUALLY CONFIDENT

SIOUX CITY Nov 4—George D Perkins editor of the Sioux City Journal in an interview said that he had no doubt of a republican success to-morrow He does not believe that the effort to impair confidence in Senator Hutchinson among the friends of the present railroad law has succeeded Hutchinson has been outspoken in support of prohibition, and this has invited whatever antagonism such a policy can muster Mr Perkins expects that the republican majority on joint ballot in the legislature will be increased rendering certain the re-election of Senator Allison As a matter of fact Mr Perkins says, the only fight is over the saloon question

SOME NATIONAL FEATURES.

DES MOINES Nov 4—The State Register (republican) says that Iowa votes to-morrow for governor and other state officers and for members of the legislature who are to elect a United States senator to succeed Allison This last fact has given the campaign some national features both parties having discussed the tariff issue to a greater or less extent Aside from this the main fight has turned upon prohibition the democrats claiming it was a failure and the republicans that it is to be regarded as the settled policy of the state until the majority of the people demand a change The campaign however, has been of much less interest on both sides than usual, and owing to the dissatisfaction of the anti monopolists over the defeat of Judge Reese for renomination It is probable that the republican majority on the head of the ticket will be reduced somewhat

Chairman Reinhardt of the republican state committee, expects an old time majority while Chairman McBlane, of the democratic committee is confident of the republican majority being reduced especially in the larger cities In the second congressional district Hays (republican) will be elected but by a considerable reduced majority

WILL BE THE CLOSEST IN YEARS.

DUBUQUE Ia Nov 4.—M M Horn formerly a member of the democratic national committee for Iowa in an interview this evening said that the coming election was the most doubtful of any held in Iowa for thirty five years Most of the democrats expect to elect Boies and the republicans as a rule are more frightened than they ever have been before The reaction from prohibition is the great stand of the druggists, the Farmers Alliance and the workingmen all of which is encouraging to the league Hopeful reports have been received from all parts of the state and great disaffection has been shown among the republicans while the democrats are solid

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

It Closes With Both Parties Confident of Victory

CLEVELAND O Nov 4—The campaign in Ohio closed to-night and while the enthusiasm has not been very great the managers of both parties have been active It is thought that Governor Foraker will be scratched by some republicans who do not believe in three terms On the other hand it is thought that Campbell will not call out the full vote of his party because he is not regarded as being in line with ex President Cleveland's policy on tariff reform In reviewing the situation the Leader (republican) will say that within the past week the situation has materially brightened for the republicans all over the state

MUCH PERSONAL BITTERNESS

CINCINNATI Nov 4.—The campaign which closed to night has been an exciting one Both parties are claiming the state by almost the same figures 10 000 to 20 000 plurality There is some personal objection to Foraker in Cincinnati Cleveland and other points, growing out of his appointments and he is likely to run below the rest of the ticket

The Enquirer (Dem) expresses confidence in the victory of the whole ticket and of democratic majorities in both branches of the general assembly

The Commercial Gazette (Rep) says that the republicans are feeling hearty over the outlook at the close of the campaign and that they need just the victory that is coming to-morrow to set them right

THE ESTIMATES

COLUMBUS O Nov 4.—The chairman of the republican and democratic state committees were interviewed to-day regarding to-morrow's election The estimates given by Colonel Conger indicates a republican plurality of between 15 000 and 20,000 He claims that the poll made by the democrats shows Foraker's election and that by the republicans an increased plurality on the head of the ticket over the democratic figures.

The chairman of the democratic committee gives out no figures or estimates but states to-day "We are going to elect Campbell sure We have figured for that, and there will be no mistake but will not make them public."

POLITICS IN NEW YORK

Republicans Joining the County Democracy to Defeat Tammany Hall

NEW YORK Nov 4.—The greatest interest in the elections to-morrow centers in balloting for the legislature The republicans had a majority in the last legislature of about forty on joint ballots It is their ambition to increase it to a two thirds majority so it will be possible to carry measures over the democratic governor's vetoes On the other hand democrats hope to reduce the republican majority and if possible to wipe it out entirely

In New York city the situation is complicated by a singular combination in deals between the county democracy and the republicans to defeat the Tammany Hall ticket and the impression prevails that this will lead to a good deal of trading, and it has already been charged that more or less colonization of votes has been indulged in

IN VIRGINIA

RICHMOND Nov 4—The indications from the democratic standpoint are that McKinney will be elected governor with the rest of the ticket beyond reasonable doubt and that there will be a majority ranging from 10 000 to 20 000 On the other hand the leading republican managers of Mahone's [illegible] assert that they will carry the state by a good majority

IN NEW JERSEY

JERSEY CITY Nov 4—At the headquarters of both the republican and democratic state committees the [illegible] apparent confidence was exhibited regarding the results of the respective parties at to-morrow's election

THE NEBRASKA ELECTION.

Close of a Peaceful Campaign A Large Republican Majority Expected.

LINCOLN Neb Nov 4—The Journal says that to-night closed the most peaceful campaign that Nebraska has known for years It is thought that the vote to-morrow will be light except in a few counties where local contests are the cause of the interest It is thought by close observers that the republican majority will not be far from 15 000 The state [illegible] of the [illegible] places the figures at 25 000 In the second [illegible] district [illegible] will be elected over Upper (democrat) by 7000 to 10 000 majority

MONTANA'S TROUBLED CONDITION

Democrats Make Bad Threats Looking to Evil Times for the New State

HELENA Mont Nov 4—The state canvassing board consisting of Governor White Chief Justice Blake and Secretary Walker resumed the official canvass of the total vote All the returns having been examined previously the board had nothing to do but foot up the total, and sign their report This was done in about five minutes, Chief Justice Blake then moved to adjourn sine die The motion was seconded by Secretary Walker put by the governor and carried unanimously The abstract of the votes and the report were then placed on the secretary's table Silver Bow county was canvassed as returned by the county canvassing board leaving out the vote of Tunnel precinct 34. The legislature is gained by the republicans by six majority and they assert that [illegible] and two district judges are the only democrats elected.

The total vote of the state on congressman was 38 1[illegible] and on governor [illegible] Taking the latter as the vote of the state the result shows a decrease of 1462 votes since the election of 1888 when the total vote on the election of a delegate to congress was 40 014. The democratic candidates it is said have in their possession official certificates of election The democrats it is said are prepared to thwart this plan of throwing out the precinct They propose to meet in session in a body and swear in the democrats that have the official certificates This would give [illegible] in two legislatures and if this plan should not work and the republicans should by any means secure a majority enough democrats would stay away to prevent a quorum

UP THE NATCHEZ VALLEY.

The Silver Mines Prove Valuable—Wagon Road Surveyed

NORTH YAKIMA Nov 4—J Frank Gordon the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce returned last night from an extended trip up the Natchez valley He and his party went up for the purpose of investigating the silver discoveries and if it was found that the section warrants it to look up the best route for a good wagon road Mr Gordon reports that this mineral belt extends along both sides of the river for a number of miles and that he could see the dykes or fissures extending way up the face of the mountains He brought back with him a large number of exceedingly fine specimens and reports that there are over 100 claims now staked out and recorded in the camp The present camp is rapidly being put into shape for winter the men now building log cabins, as they will stay and work their claims all through the winter While Mr Gordon was in camp Mr Howard Carr, of Yakima came through with his outfit, bound for the mouth of Jumping river where there have been recent finds of good coal He intended to be gone some two weeks Mr Gordon located the wagon road on the old trail from above Cleman's corral and work will be commenced at once building around the rock in the bed of the stream Mr E K Current, the recorder of the camp has laid out a townsite in the wide bottom at this point of the valley

AGAINST WOMEN IN POLITICS

Miss Kate Field Has Attacked Suffrage for Her Sex

NEW YORK Nov 4—Kate Field made a vigorous attack to-night [illegible] special [illegible] She declares that women [illegible] themselves and are incapable of governing others, and declares that this is proved by the poor breeding [illegible] woman to see their own good She cites the resolutions [illegible] of women in Salt Lake City in which the women said that Mormonism was the [illegible] safeguard of female virtue and [illegible] protection against the [illegible] prostitution

What women have done for politics south of Mason and Dixon's line history records. What [illegible] are doing is shown by that well [illegible] body of energetic and aggressive women known as the Woman's Christian Temperance Union who mistake hysterical sentiment [illegible] knowledge of [illegible] as limited as their knowledge of the English language [illegible] Thus far [illegible] our history women have exerted baleful influence [illegible] and [illegible] to rebel on [illegible] polygamous theocracy, [illegible] being prime movers in the passage of sumptuary laws as intemperate as they are unrepublican, and which beget lying hypocrisy and law [illegible] That women will eventually exert benign influence on politics I do not doubt but that blessed era will not arrive until prejudice and feeling yield to reason and their knowledge of the world is based on a more extended [illegible] than can be obtained by revolving about the family hearth

The Regular Fall Meeting of the Players' Brotherhood

NEW YORK Nov 4—The baseball players Brotherhood met at noon to-day The Brotherhood [illegible] [illegible] association had anything to do with the Players League This is their regular fall meeting Between thirty and forty players were present including the officers of the Brotherhood and the eight delegates had votes At 2 P M a recess was taken It was announced that only routine business had been transacted President Ward said that on Wednesday a meeting between the players and stockholders will occur and a league be formally organized

THEIR POSITION DEFINED

The counsel of the brotherhood of baseball players, after an all day's session, made public this evening a statement defining their position toward the National League Referring to their intention to embark in business for themselves next year, an explanation of the reason is made, which says in part "There was a time when the name of the league stood for integrity and fair dealing To-day it stands for dollars and cents. Once it looked to the elevation of the game and an honest exhibition of the sport To-day its eyes are upon the turnstile Men have come into the business with no other motive than to exploit it for every dollar there is in sight Measures originally intended for the good of the game have been perverted into instruments for wrong The reserve rule and provisions of the national agreement gave the members unlimited power, and they have not hesitated to use this in the most arbitrary and mercenary way The players have been bought and sold and exchanged like sheep Reservation has become with time another name for property right By a combination among themselves stronger than the strongest trust, they were able to enforce the most arbitrary measures, and the player had either to submit or get out of the profession in which he had spent years in attaining proficiency"

The statement then details the labors of the brotherhood with the league magnates for the past two years in the futile endeavor to remedy some of the evils and says that upon their final refusal this year to meet the brotherhood, the latter began organizing

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—Produce receipts last [illegible] include: Wheat, 20,000 ctls; [illegible] oats, 5130 ctls; barley, 50,300 [illegible]

Freights and charters: Disengaged tonnage is accumulating rapidly, tonnage of this description now in port footing up 37,800 tons against [illegible] Monday. Exporters show no disposition [illegible] at present, tonnage on berth being large and sufficient to engage their attention for some time; miscellaneous freights quiet. The bark C. O. Whitmore loads lumber on the Sound for Honolulu.

Weekly tonnage statement shows 64,800 registered tons in port engaged; 37,800 tons disengaged, and 214,000 listed to arrive.

Wheat—Buyers held off and the sample market [illegible] very dull. Some small lots of standard shipping [illegible] sold to-day at $1 28¾; offerings are of small [illegible], as holders are little disposed to market [illegible] ruling prices. Quote No. 1 shipping $1 27½ [illegible]. Options, steady; sales, buyer year, 800 [illegible] at $1 33¼, 200 tons at $1 33⅛. [illegible] season, $1 4⅝. Afternoon session, buyer [illegible] at $1 33¼, buyer season, $1 41⅝.

Barley—The advancing tendency of the market [illegible] but no decline in values is noted. Receipts to-day were very large, mostly of inferior [illegible] consequently choice and high feed [illegible] show no depreciation as to prices. A [illegible] demand for choice feed is apparent, and [illegible] are compelled to meet holders' views. [illegible] choice feed, 80@82½; No. 1 feed 77½@80c, [illegible] brewing 85@$1 05 per ctl. [illegible], quiet but firm; buyer season, 93½c; [illegible] buyer year 83⅝c.

Oats—To-day's receipts were 5100 ctls, but this [illegible] was readily absorbed, as stocks are being [illegible] limited. The demand continues [illegible] offerings are by no means large. [illegible] however appear willing to supply the [illegible] current quotations, which range at $1 30 [illegible] for No. 1 feed and choice. Sales of milling [illegible] $1 55; common feed averages [illegible]

[illegible]—Bran offerings show some falling off, [illegible] market is rather steadier at quotations. [illegible] per ton. Middlings steady at [illegible] from $15 to $18 50 per ton.

Potatoes—Receipts liberal; demand fair. A good [illegible] custom, while trade drags on [illegible] inferior stock. Quote Burbanks 75c@ [illegible], Early Rose 60@75c.

[illegible] and receipts are going into [illegible]. Small shipments were made to [illegible] per steamer and Canada per C. P. R. R., [illegible] have no influence on values [illegible] as nominal quotations.

[illegible]—Quiet, unchanged.

NEW YORK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Nov. 4.—During the week the prices [illegible] cereals have advanced, wheat being [illegible]. W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

Is a fine seamless calf shoe, with Dongola tops and Oak Leather bottoms. They are made in Congress, Button and Lace on London Cap Toe, Narrow Cap Toe and Plain French Toe Lasts, in sizes from 5 to 11, including half sizes and in all widths. If you have been paying from $5 to $6 for shoes of this quality do not do so longer. One pair will wear as long as two pairs of common shoes sold by dealers that are not warranted by the manufacturer.

Our claims for this shoe over all other $3 shoes advertised, are:

1st. It contains better material.
2d. It is more stylish, better fitting and durable.
3d. It gives better general satisfaction.
4th. It costs more money to make.
5th. It saves more money for the consumer.
6th. It is sold by more dealers throughout the U. S.
7th. Its great success is due to merit.
8th. It can not be duplicated by any other manufacturer.
9th. It is the best in the world, and has a larger demand than any other $3 shoe advertised.

$5,000 will be paid to any person who will prove the above statements to be untrue. The Following Lines will be found to be of the Same Quality of Excellence.

$5.00 SHOE GENUINE HAND-SEWED, which takes the place of custom-made shoes that cost from $7 to $9.
$4.00 SHOE THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY HAND-SEWED WELT $4 SHOE. Equals custom-made shoes costing from $6 to $8.
$3.50 SHOE FOR POLICEMEN. Railroad Men and Letter Carriers all wear them. Smooth inside as a hand-sewed shoe. No tacks or wax thread to hurt the feet.
$2.50 SHOE IS UNEXCELLED FOR HEAVY WEAR. Best calf shoe for the price.
$2.25 SHOE WORKINGMAN'S. Is the best in the world for rough wear; one pair ought to wear a man a year.
$2.00 SHOE IS EQUAL TO SHOES THAT COST FROM $3 TO $3.50. One pair will wear longer than any shoe ever sold at the price.
$2.00 SHOE FOR BOYS is the best School Shoe in the world.
$1.75 SHOE YOUTH'S SCHOOL, gives the small Boys a chance to wear the best shoes in the world.

All made in Congress, Button and Lace.

W. L. DOUGLAS' $3 AND $2 SHOES FOR LADIES.

Both Ladies' Shoes are made in sizes from 1 to 7, including half sizes, and B, C, D, E and E E widths.

STYLES OF LADIES' SHOES.

"The French Opera," "The Spanish Arch Opera," "The American Common Sense," "The Medium Common Sense." All made in Button in the Latest Styles. Also French Opera in Front Lace, on $3 Shoe only.

Consumers should remember that W. L. DOUGLAS is the largest and only Shoe Manufacturer in the world, supplying shoes direct from factory, thus giving all the middlemen's profits to the wearer.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins by grocers, labeled thus:

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, NOV 5.

The county commissioners do not seem inclined to take steps to hasten the improvement of the county jail. All in your own good time, gentlemen. You are the doctors.

The city election which will be held in Ellensburgh in about a month is already being freely discussed by the voters. The indications are that some radical changes will take place.

The Portland High school needs a principal and that of East Portland has apparently a principal too many. Is there no way of adjusting these disturbed conditions of supply and demand?

The situation in Wallowa county is not encouraging. The resources of the county are $13,074.53, while its liabilities are $22,000; this, too, in face of the fact that on July 1, 1888, the county was about free from debt.

The most unanimous vote cast at the recent election was that of Yakima county for the capital. Out of 1067 votes polled, 1045 were for North Yakima for the capital. The balance of twenty two were scattering votes.

Portland threatens to rival Chicago as a divorce center, if it does not fairly challenge San Francisco as a community of variegated domestic life. There are certain distinctions more conspicuous than desirable.

Astoria's coming municipal election promises to be one of great liveliness. It is said that a hot fight will be made on the city attorney and chief of police. Portland does not seem to be the only city in Oregon that is troubled with such a police force.

The first house on the Skagit river in the dense forests of Washington was built in 1861 by Don Orrin Kincaid. In 1871 the claim on which the little town of Mount Vernon stands was taken by Mr Jasper Gates, and his house was the first in the place.

Three more victims of the Lost Cabin craze are reported. They left Linkville, Oregon, in 1886 and their bones have just been discovered bleaching in the Wolf mountains. This deadly myth begins to rival Captain Kidd's buried treasure in its fascination for adventurers.

The late rains in Idaho have started the grass in splendid shape, and with two weeks more of this mild weather cattle men will be supremely happy. Even with the present growth the grass will enable many an old cow to pull through the winter without a mouthful of hay.

Returns of dead from the Colorado blizzard begin to come in. Three frozen cowboys are reported from near the New Mexico line. It is a question how much of this sort of thing it will take to depopulate Dakota, Colorado and the whole blizzard swept region in favor of the Western slope.

A large vein of tin ore, assaying 8 per cent. tin, has been discovered near the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific west of the Cascade summit. The character of the vein is black oxide of silicates. It is found in large quantities, and is said to be equal to the best Cornwall grade of tin ore.

The people of Prineville are indignant over the high rates demanded by insurance companies. The town has not suffered a severe loss from fire for the past five or six years and has a first-class fire apparatus, yet insurance companies charge the same rates they did when there was no protection against fire.

David Parsons was the daily victim of the industrious Portland garroter yesterday morning. Coming away from where he ought not to have been, he was knocked down and robbed. In a momentary lapse into efficiency, the police arrested three negroes for the offense, and they had not escaped from the jail up to midnight.

Railroad building is proceeding rapidly in Whatcom county. About 200 men are at work grading the West Coast railroad through the Nooksack river valley and a large force of men are also at work constructing the Cornwall railroad between Whatcom and the Nooksack crossing, where it will connect with the West Coast at an early day.

The electric light wire demon broke loose in New York again yesterday, but a horse was the only victim. The poor brute stepped on the wire forming a circuit with an electric light main and was slowly roasted to death. Several men who incautiously touched him were shocked into insensibility. How long is New York going to stand this sort of thing?

It argues well for Idaho when leading republicans, side by side with democrats, speak warmly in favor of the constitution, and openly avow their determination to vote for its adoption. Those who favor statehood for Idaho claim that her admission into the Union under the proposed constitution, will save $55,280 to the taxpayers of the new commonwealth.

Quick time was recently made on a train of hops shipped from Washington territory to London. It was a special train and left Puyallup, Wash., September 18. It reached Baltimore September 30, making the trip from the Pacific to the Atlantic in twelve days. October 4 the hops left Baltimore for London and arrived there October 15, making the entire trip in twenty seven days.

Even the great national government cannot take private property for public use without paying for the same. A case from Yaquina bay has just been decided in the United States court where suit was brought against the United States to recover $5000 for nineteen acres of land used by the government for jetty works, etc. The jury returned a verdict of $1000 for plaintiff without leaving their seats.

It is said that there are a lot of Dakota boomers in the East who carry Oregon wheat and represent it as having grown in Dakota. An Oregonian saw an exhibit of this kind at Buffalo, N. Y., and says he found a sample of wheat he had put up in the stalk from wheat grown on Mr W. S. Ladd's farm. He recognized it by a peculiar string which he tied to the sample in arranging it.

The sudden death of William H. Watkinds at the Gilman house yesterday removes one of the oldest citizens of Oregon, one who came in the memorable year 1852 and remained a constant and often a prominent and useful citizen. He held several offices in connection with the penal system of the state and left a record [illegible] to no [illegible] of Portland which does not suffer by comparison with that of [illegible].

Jay Gould has another wrecking enterprise on foot and the Missouri Pacific has been consecrated as the sacrifice. The stock fell off three points without any visible cause, when it was discovered that a new and large issue of bonds is in contemplation to satisfy certain suddenly developed claims of Gould and his friends. This is a common enough device of the railroad wrecker. He plays the dual part of officer and claimant, paying the stockholders' money over from his own hand into his private pocket.

PURSUING THE FUGITIVES.

Soldiers After the Indians That Murdered Sheriff Reynolds on Saturday

TUCSON, A. T., Nov 4.—Information has been received here of a fight that occurred at 4 o'clock this morning between a detachment of troops from Fort Huachuca under Sergeant Ricketts, and the Indians ten miles from Crittenden. A number of shots were exchanged. None of the soldiers were hit, though Corporal Griffin is missing. Signal fires are seen in the Whetstone mountains and Salt river Pinal mountains, which seem to indicate that there are more Indians out besides the fugitives who murdered Sheriff Reynolds on Saturday.

Take the Northern Pacific railroad, the best equipped line for all points East. Office No. 121 First street, corner Washington.

Hacking, coughing, spitting, stop it with Kidd's Cough Syrup, 25 cents.

REAL ESTATE

In the City of East Portland

I will sell at the Courthouse Door on Saturday, Nov. 9, at 10 o'clock A. M.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Being that valuable property one hundred and eight, one and a half (181½) feet on 19th st., East Portland, bet. Q and R sts.; thence running easterly 479 feet, thence southerly 181½ feet, thence westerly 479 feet to place of beginning. Also beautifully located property, block No. 4 in Sullivan's addition to the city of East Portland, being 100 feet on 19th st., 200 feet on 20th st., 200 feet on A st., and 200 feet on B st. Also fractional blocks Nos. 10 and 26 in Sullivan's addition to city of East Portland. Title perfect.

Attorney for said Executor.
A. B. RICHARDSON,
Auctioneer.

ARE YOU HOMELESS?

THERE ARE a few facts for one who lives in Portland and contemplates making a purchase in West Portland, and it well-considered you will be thoroughly convinced. You avoid city tax and water tax, and get your fuel at one-half cost. You get good, pure water, and live above the malaria belt. Your payment on your lot and house each month will not amount to what your rent does now. You are saving by purchasing your home by paying your rent; you will have enough vacant room on your lot for a kitchen garden; you can keep chickens and a cow if you see fit to do so; you will not be compelled to live on the second or third floor and let your wife wreck her constitution climbing up and down two or three pairs of stairs. You can do this, however, within the next 30 days. Get in on the ground floor at West Portland for $120 in monthly payments of $10, and get the foundation of a home which will make you independent in many ways and will increase in value two fold in less than one year. In comparison you are no farther from West Portland with a motor road than from Twenty-first street to the bridge by street car.

CLOSING OUT SALE.

West Portland pool lots must all be sold at once. Until Nov. 15th they can be had at $120; $10 down and $10 per month. They are worth double that amount. Make your purchase at once. Get a home on this beautiful elevation. Call for maps and full information on T. A. Wood, manager, room No. 1, I. O. O. F. Temple. 27otf*

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S NOTICE AD[illegible] [illegible] the steamship George W. Elder. United States of America, District of Oregon, ss. Whereas a libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 26th day of October, A. D. 1889, by Mr. E. N. Deady, proctor, on behalf of Peter O. Norberg, in a cause of damages civil and maritime against the steamship called the George W. Elder, her tackle, apparel, furniture and machinery, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in said steamship, her tackle, apparel, furniture and machinery may be cited to appear and answer the premises, and all proceedings being had, that the said steamship may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law; therefore in pursuance of the said monition under the seal of the said court to me directed and delivered on the 26th day of October, A. D. 1889, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said steamship called the George W. Elder, her tackle, apparel, furniture and machinery, to appear before the said court in the city of Portland, in said district, on the 2d day of December, 1889 (if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter), at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to answer the said libel and to make known their allegations in that behalf.
Dated at Portland, in said district, this 26th day of October, A. D. 1889.
JOHN MYERS,
United States Marshal for the District of Oregon.
E. N. DEADY, Proctor for the Libellant. 29o14

Work Has Been Finished at Dry Stocking Bar

Jefferson Street Ferry—The Second Street Bridge—Freight Department Organ [illegible]—Death of a Popular Young Man.

A REMARKABLE TRIAL.—Mr M C Sullivan manager [illegible] Thiel's detective agency has returned from Denver where he has been attending a most remarkable trial in which James Conner formerly first lieutenant of the Denver police force, and Charles Connor formerly a city detective were convicted of conspiracy to rob a Denver & Rio Grande express train at the time they were on the police force J W Marshall a [illegible] keeper of Kansas City was convicted of complicity in the same crime. The case was worked up by a member of Thiel's detective [illegible] of [illegible] Louis The conviction of the [illegible] sustains the charge that under the last [illegible] administration Denver certain crimi[illegible]als were allowed to operate under the sanction of the police department James Connor was a [illegible] candidate for chief of police when the [illegible] It seems that the Portland police [illegible] not so worst in the country

DEATH OF A POPULAR YOUNG MAN.—Cyrus O'Connor breathed his last at Good Samaritan hospital last evening. He was a young man employed at the Arlington Club and was very popular among the members. He has only been [illegible] for about six months but his fine address and courteous treatment of all who came in contact with him won him many friends in a very short time. He has been a sufferer from Bright's disease of the kidneys for some time and a week ago yesterday he was compelled to quit work and go to the hospital, where his earthly sufferings ended yesterday. Mr O'Connor came to this city from New York very highly recommended by C. H Platt who recently led Miss [illegible] at this city to the altar, in whose employ he had been for several years. His genial face will be greatly missed by the members of the club. The only relative he leaves in this city is [illegible]

APPOINTED SECRETARY FOR OREGON.—Mr M C Griffin, who for the past few years has been identified with the James G Blaine club and the American Protective Tariff league of this city has been honored with the appointment of secretary for the state of Oregon. The appointment was made at the last meeting of the executive committee of the league through the recommendation of [illegible] M Carland secretary of the Home Market club of Chicago and Hon M C George of [illegible] Mr Griffin has accepted the appointment and will henceforth work harder than ever in the interests of protection to American industries. The men composing the executive committee of the league are Cornelius N. Bliss, of New York George H. [illegible] Ohio, James Phillips, Jr Massachusetts Joseph E. Thropp Pennsylvania and Henry T Cook New Jersey

INVITATION TO TEACHERS AND SCHOLARS.—As this is the last week that Colonel Winston will remain in the city with his dime menagerie he has kindly invited the teachers of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades to visit the show with their classes, free of charge. He further shows his public spirit by extending an invitation to the little ones in the Children's Home to visit the menagerie next Saturday. There are many things in the menagerie that are worth seeing in the interest of natural history. Besides the only three buffalos on the coast the bear, wolves, prairie dogs, monkeys and other interesting animals the tent contains one of the finest collections of Alaska curios ever exhibited in the city. As the menagerie leaves for San Francisco next Tuesday, the teachers and scholars are requested to avail themselves of this opportunity

AT DRY STOCKING BAR.—Captain W Young, United States Engineers yesterday received notice from Inspector Lamb who has been in charge of the works for the improvement of the channel at Dry Stocking bar Tillamook bay that the work has been completed, by the contractor R. L. Hale. The improvement consists of 1600 feet of about pile dike and brush and stone revetment and some spur dikes. The portion of the dike injured by the freshet a short time since has been repaired by private contract and a spur dike will be built to prevent it from being injured again in the same manner. Hereafter probably no one will be able to cross Dry Stocking bar without getting wet all over and craft of considerable size will be able to navigate the Tillamook river

NO MORE SWIMMING, BOYS.—"The bath tub has gone" ejaculated a small boy as he looked about for the free bath house at the foot of Jefferson street yesterday afternoon. His eyes did not deceive him, for the structure was towed to Ross Island, to remain in winter quarters several weeks ago. Since the removal of the bath house from its moorings just south of the approach to the Jefferson street ferry, the place seems unusually quiet. The shouts of the small boys are no longer heard and the scenes of innocent boyish revelry only remain in the memory of those who used to see them. The boys miss their aquatic sport, but they will enjoy it much more, in consequence of the denial when the June sun again warms the water of the Willamette to a delightful temperature.

EXTRA HELP TO BE EMPLOYED.—Mr W T Henry chief clerk of the postal railway service states that extra help will be employed on the last mail train from Chicago to this city, and the mail will be ready for distribution on its arrival here at 4 A. M. This arrangement will give the business men his mail twenty-four hours earlier than at present, which will be a great benefit. On the last train from Chicago to Omaha about eight clerks will be run from Omaha to Green river six from Green river to the [illegible] and [illegible] route over the O. R. & N system two clerks will do the work. It is gratifying to know that extra help is to be employed as there is a general complaint that railway postal clerks are overworked and cannot handle the mail

"MICKEY" WANTED THE SHOES.—Officers Mott and Day arrested "Mickey" Murphy shortly after [illegible] o'clock yesterday evening for stealing two shoes from in front of the Red Front clothing store. The shoes were not mates one of them being labeled "Chief of Police" while the other bore a common every-day trade-mark. Mickey is a tough character and has served sentences for other offenses in the past. He was released from the city jail only yesterday morning and apparently was anxious to get back to his old haunts. This theft, however may take him to a land where the prevailing style is a striped uniform

FREIGHT DEPARTMENT REORGANIZED.—A reorganization has taken place in the freight department of the Union Pacific since the new arrangement was made by which Portland becomes the western terminus of that road. Mr C A Mellen is general traffic manager J A Munroe assistant general traffic manager, J S Tebbetts general freight agent for all lines east of Ogden with office at Omaha Francis Cope general freight and passenger agent of lines north and south of [illegible] Lake R. Campbell general freight agent for all lines west of Granger. So far as shipping freight is concerned, the Union Pacific is a solid line from Portland to Chicago

AFRAID OF HER HUSBAND.—On complaint of Mrs Kate Earnest, her husband Walter Ernest, was placed in durance vile by Officer [illegible] yesterday afternoon. Mrs Ernest complains that her husband is greatly attached to the amber colored juice, and that when thus under the influence she is afraid of her life. He has threatened to kill her a number of times and she is [illegible] he will yet carry his threats into execution. Ernest is charged with threatening to kill and will be arraigned in the police court this afternoon.

ORGAN RECITALS.—The magnificent organ built by Geo. B. Rider & Company of Boston for Grace M. E. Church of this city has arrived and is now being put in place. Professor Rider the builder of the organ who is one of the finest organists of Boston is here and will give organ recitals on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings November 12 and 13. Such organ music as will be given at these recitals has never been heard in Portland, and lovers of music may expect a rare treat.

FERRY LINE PURCHASED.—The Jefferson street ferry has been purchased by Mr George W Brown, the well known contractor and builder of the Hawthorne avenue motor line. This line has been extended into the second block east from Fifth street where gravel is being obtained for [illegible] the road [illegible] is the intention to extend [illegible] connect with the ferry and it is among the possibilities of the future that a bridge may be built to bring [illegible] nearer the river

TO FILL MARQUAM'S GULCH.—Work is evidently soon to be begun on the second street bridge across Marquam's gulch, as Sheridan street at the intersection of Second, is littered with long sticks of heavy timber. The streets at this point are in a chaotic condition as the sidewalks in places have been raised to the highth to which it is intended to raise the grade of the streets but the work of raising the streets seems to have been indefinitely postponed

TRAVELING BY LIGHTNING.—The electric motor line, across the steel bridge to Albina began running cars regularly yesterday afternoon. Now all who have not traveled on a car propelled by electricity can have an opportunity to do so. The cars run much faster than horse [illegible] not so much faster as one might suppose [illegible] the difference in speed between [illegible] car horse.

SECOND STREET MOTOR LINE.—The [illegible] of the Second street electric motor line [illegible] Front street and down Gibbs toward [illegible] the poles for carrying the wires have been set [illegible] the Front street by [illegible] present a very gay appearance, with about [illegible] of the [illegible] been painted a deep green and [illegible] the cream color and the cross arms a [illegible]

WHERE can you get a lot all cleared [illegible] with fine view near stores schools a[illegible] for $100, at monthly installments of $1 per [illegible] and no taxes? Also near Mount Tabor [illegible] the O. R. & N railroad and base line [illegible] answer is—In Woodland. Only a few lots remaining. Call on G. W. McCoy No 10 Stark street, corner First, upstairs and get a [illegible]

GROUNDS BEING CLEARED.—The rubbish in the court yard in front of The [illegible] is being burned and the grounds cleared up generally. An underground electric wire is being laid to furnish electricity for the lights over the entrance to [illegible] court. This is the first wire of the kind to be used in Portland. It consists of a copper wire covered with a thick coating of lead.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A BAND.—S. B. [illegible] was in the city hall at East Portland yesterday afternoon and took a transcript of the warrant and arrest of Tracy now in the city jail for beating a drum on the street. It is understood that an other attempt will be made to [illegible] that ordinance so far as one instrument [illegible] It will be the endeavor to show that one instrument does not constitute a band

MISS RUTH GATCH'S DEATH.—Professor Crawford received a dispatch from Seattle last evening announcing the death in that city of Miss Ruth Gatch a young lady well known in this city. She was the second daughter of [illegible] M G [illegible] president of the territorial university at Seattle. The young lady passed into the unknown beyond yesterday morning

BADLY INJURED.—Martin McGowan a young man employed in the Southern Pacific yard on the East Side while making a coupling was knocked down and considerably bruised [illegible] [illegible] How seriously injured the boy was could not be [illegible] but he seems to have had a narrow escape from being killed.

A BIG FIND.—On J [illegible] Co's center table will be found a stack of about 100 bedspreads to-day. The prices are [illegible] $1 and $1.50 This is the best offer of the season, and the ladies will appreciate the chance

TO FIX THE MULTNOMAH.—Yesterday morning Mr Louis [illegible] the boat builder, left for Olympia, Wash where he has been called to dock the steamer Multnomah for repairs

THE ELECTRIC CARS will begin running this morning over the steel bridge at 6:30 and will go as far as Russell street in Albina. In a few days the whole line will be in operation

MATINEE PRICES.—The prices for the matinee this afternoon at the great Gilmore Jubilee Concert in the Exposition building will be: General admission $1 children 50c

CHANGE IN TIME.—Until further notice O. R. & N Co's steamers for San Francisco will leave Portland at 10 P. M., instead of [illegible] midnight, as heretofore

THE FIRST of a series of socials and whist parties will be given at Masonic hall this (Tuesday) evening by Aemo Social club 8:30 o'clock.

GAS BILLS UNPAID to day will not be discounted to morrow. Pay and save your dollar.

LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY.—Regular monthly meeting to day at 2 o'clock

MONDAY'S JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Mildred Wishes a Divorce—Number of Small Cases—English Indicted—Not Confirmed

Mildred M Morse began action in the circuit court yesterday against John P. Morse for a divorce on the grounds of desertion. The parties to this action were united in 1884. Plaintiff alleges that her John toward whom she has always demeaned herself as a dutiful and affectionate wife wilfully deserted her at Spokane Falls Mar h 8, 1888 and has continuously and intentionally remained away from her and refused to contribute to her support [illegible] In addition to a decree she wishes the custody of her child Arthur Ray Morse

ALL ABOUT SIX BITS

A jury trial is set for 2 o'clock this afternoon to find whether or not M Sholl is guilty of assault upon Mrs Annie Brown. The two people are neighbors and live near Third and B streets. Mrs Brown paid a visit to Sholl the result of which was a quarrel over a balance of seventy-five cents Sholl claimed to be due him. Mrs Brown alleges that in this dispute Sholl committed the crime of assault and battery

FIXED THE OLD FLOOR BEST

J L. Lewis swore out warrants yesterday before Justice Tuttle for the arrest of L. Carter a carpenter and Mrs. Mary Cleveland a lady residing upstairs at No 165 Fifth street on a charge of defacing a building not their own. Mrs Cleveland, it seems, employed Carter to build a stairway for her and encroached as Lewis claims upon his domain by nailing boards on the lower floor. Hence the complaints.

ISSUED A BOGUS CHECK

R. K. Callahan the restaurant keeper of the Exposition building, will have a hearing before Justice Tuttle to day on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It seems that Callahan gave a bank check to the Cascade laundry to pay a wash bill of $14. The check proved valueless and the laundryman filed information. Callahan is at large on $200 bail.

STIRRED UP A HORNET'S NEST

Lawrence Hunsaker and Ray Allen two youthful nimrods swore out complaints yesterday before Justice Tuttle charging two men whose real names are unknown with extortion and with larceny. The boys were down on Sauvie's island, last Friday on a duck shooting expedition, and were taken in hand by two men who claimed that the boys were trespassing upon their grounds. After trying in vain to get $5 apiece from the boys the men took young Hunsaker's shotgun which he valued at $25. This high handed proceeding will be the cause of their answering to day to the charges of larceny and extortion

L. G. ENGLISH INDICTED

L. G English the young man who was arrested a few days since for issuing drafts on a San Francisco firm that did not exist was indicted on four charges of larceny yesterday. He was brought in to court arraigned and given a week to plead. Owing to the number of cases on the docket, the case will not come up for trial for at least a month

THE SALE NOT CONFIRMED

Yesterday Judge Stearns refused to confirm the sale of the stock of the Willamette Steam Mills Lumbering & Manufacturing Company, made on the 19th of October to W. L. Boise for a San Francisco capitalist on the grounds that the price obtained was much less than its actual value, and that the confirmation of the sale would greatly injure the estate of the late Ben Holladay

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, NOV. 5.

NATURAL RESULTS OF FILTH.

Typhoid fever is quite prevalent in this city and East Portland. Since the time has gone by wherein fevers were considered a visitation of God, and deaths therefrom were charged up against the inscrutable methods of Divine Providence in dealing with the children of men, it becomes an intelligent community to open its eyes to the real cause of the facts above cited. This will not be hard to find. It lurks, without pretending to hide, in alleys and back dooryards, reeking with refuse; in dank cellars, containing decaying vegetable substances, and, not infrequently in East Portland, in slimy wells in close proximity to shallow cess-pools, with their noisome gases and disgusting odors. The wonder is, not that people are stricken with fevers and die under such conditions, but that folks who live in this way have judgment enough to send for the doctor when attacked, and thus provide for their exit from the world through the gateway of a filth disease with a show of care for the life that they ruthlessly subjected to deadly miasms until its candle flickered in the socket preparatory to going out.

In a statement published in THE OREGONIAN to-day from one of the most eminent physicians of Portland, one of the chief causes of the fever is assigned to the impure milk. This statement is at once plausible and probable, and consumers of milk should look well to their sources of supply.

The health authorities are censurable for a state of affairs that is responsible for the prevalence of typhoid, but individuals are not blameless in the premises. There is not the least excuse for people who surround themselves with the refuse matter of sinks, decaying vegtables, and the ordinary accumulations of community filth, and who despising the warnings of their olfactories take the germs thus bred and fostered in this refuse into their systems. There are places not three blocks from the Stark-street ferry landing on the East side where the windows of the sleeping rooms open over depositories of filth that cause people of intelligent sanitary perceptions and an ordinary sense of smell to avert their eyes, hold their breath, and hurry past as if pursued by a pestilence. Yet these rooms are occupied nightly, and the farce of "airing the bedding" through windows opening above the steaming marshes of rottenness below is of daily occurrence.

Residents of East Portland find excuse for the unsanitary conditions that invite fevers, and flaunt a bold challenge in the face of pestilence, in the fact that the city is wholly without sewerage—a condition that, in turn, is inexcusable.

It is strange that it is necessary to urge upon people the importance of cleaning up their back yards. The most ignorant slattern, who throws out her dishwater within a few feet of her kitchen door steps and adds each day her vegetable refuse to the reeking pile of rottenness that is sufficient to taint the air of an entire block knows in a general way that door-yard filth breeds sickness, and yet hundreds of people keep, and apparently cherish such plague-spots and when disease fastens upon them they prate of misfortune and pose for sympathy as if they were not responsible for the ills that they bewail.

Inasmuch as the individual cannot always be depended upon without compulsion to keep his premises free from filth it is manifestly the duty of health officers to bring compulsory argument to bear in such cases. People who do keep their yards and cellars clean have rights which their untidy neighbors should be compelled to respect, and one of these is that their efforts to keep clean and healthful shall not be rendered ineffective by an accumulation of filth just across the lot or perhaps just over the fence that conceals a neighbor's yard but does not confine its odors to his enclosure.

Health reformers are wont to declare that the young people of this era ought to be ashamed to acknowledge to headaches, indigestion and kindred disorders denoting unsanitary habits. If this is true of individuals it should certainly be true of the community, that, with full power to protect itself from unwholesome conditions is suddenly aroused to the fact that a preventable disease is alarmingly prevalent within its limits. Several hundred fever patients show plainly that the sanitary conditions of the city are not what they should be and indicate that it is time for the health officer to place an emphasis behind a notification to citizens to "clean up" that will cause a long-needed commotion in back yards and give the owners of scavenger carts a chance to make a small fortune within the month.

A WESTERN BANKRUPT MEASURE.

A convention of commercial bodies, in which all the more prominent cities of the West and Southwest were represented, has prepared a new bankrupt bill for presentation to congress, in which it is sought to protect the honest merchant, punish the dishonest merchant and provide for a prompt, equitable distribution of the assets of bankrupts at a minimum cost. The failure to do just this thing was the ground upon which congress repealed the last bankrupt act in 1879.

The general plan of this new measure is for the distribution of bankrupt assets by trustees appointed by the court on the nomination of the creditors. These trustees act under the immediate supervision of referees appointed by the court, with a review by the court itself. The courts are the district courts of the United States or the territories and the supreme court of the District of Columbia. The referees are appointed by the courts, and there is to be one for each congressional district in which a certain minimum number of cases shall be pending. Where this number is not reached the district is united to an adjacent one or more, under one referee. The expenses under the law are paid out of the United States treasury, from a fund derived from a small percentage fee collected from the estates. There is to be a fee of $10 at the time of filing the petition, and when the case is concluded 1 per cent. of estates over $5000, or one-half of 1 per cent. if a compromise is reached and approved. The referees are paid $1000 a year for the time actually employed and $10 for each case concluded. Their expenses must be reported in detail and approved by the court. Trustees receive collectively 5 per cent. on the first $5000 paid out in dividends, 2 per cent. on the second $5000, and 1 per cent. on additional amounts. Under this law involuntary bankruptcy requires the filing of a petition by three creditors, unless the creditors are less than twelve in number, and their claims must amount to $500 in excess of securities; and process issues and the controversy is determined by the court, if defense is made. Any compromise may be set aside within six months, or a discharge under the law within one year, if fraudulently or improperly obtained. Among the acts of bankruptcy is making a conveyance, while insolvent, for the purpose of giving a preference, or dealing in options while insolvent, and among the bars to a discharge are failure to keep proper books of account, failure to act in good faith, neglect without satisfactory excuse of his duties by a bankrupt, giving a preference that has not been surrendered, or knowingly making a false statement. Further, if a preference has been given, and the person benefited thereby shall have had reasonable cause to believe that a fraud was intended, the property or the value thereof may be recovered by the trustee. The fact that the transfer was not made in the ordinary course shall be prima facie evidence of fraud by the debtor, and "reasonable cause of belief" by the other party. Still further, the following are made crimes punishable by imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a period not to exceed three years: Omissions from schedules of assets and list of creditors, false oath, obtaining goods on credit with intent not to pay for them, obtaining goods to give a preference or to obtain assets in bankruptcy, disposing of goods otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade, secreting or concealing goods to prevent process, or secreting, concealing, removing or falsifying books, deeds or documents relating to property. The author of this Western national bankrupt measure is Colonel J. S. Torrey, of St. Louis.

STRAINING AT A GNAT.

President Harrison is overdoing the matter. It is all very well to be accurate and careful in proceedings looking to the admission of new states to the Union, but the technical objection upon which the president is withholding his proclamation completing the act of admission of Washington is too trivial to warrant the creating of such serious local complications as will follow delay. The objection is that the signature of the governor is not affixed to the certified copy of the constitution sent to the president. The governor formally certified to the verity of the copy of the constitution in an official letter accompanying it, and for all practical and legal purposes a part of it. He repeated his official certification of the validity of the document in affixing his signature, with those of the other members of the canvassing board, to the election returns, showing its adoption by the vote of the people. These were sent with the copy of the constitution, and were, again, for all practical and legal purposes, a part of it. This should be enough for any president, even under ordinary circumstances. But the circumstances of this particular case are extraordinary. The legislature of Washington must meet to-morrow, under the provisions of the constitutional convention held by authority of the enabling act. There is no question of its right to meet, whether the state is admitted or not. Nor is there any question of the right to elect senators. A territorial legislature may do that, leaving the senate to pass upon the title subsequently given them by the admission of the state. The Washington legislature meeting before the state is admitted may do all that a territorial legislature may do. The trouble is that it may not do any more. If the proclamation of the president is not issued before noon Wednesday, it must meet as a territorial legislature and nothing more. This will create awkward complications. The state officers cannot be inaugurated. The lieutenant governor cannot preside over the senate. Any organization which that body may make will be temporary. There can be no official communication or joint action between the executive and legislature of the new state. These difficulties will not be fatal, but they may be temporarily embarrassing. They are wholly unnecessary. They could be endured if any vital interest were to be served by delay or if any serious risk or danger to the new state were involved in the immediate issue of the proclamation completing her admission. They will not be endured very patiently if they must be brought upon the people of Washington simply because the signature of the governor certifying to the adoption and verity of the constitution happens to be upon one piece of paper instead of another. The president is straining at a gnat.

OUR MILITARY WEAKNESS.

Adjutant-General Kelton, U. S. A., points out that the United States relatively is as helpless to-day to defend its capital against the attack of a foreign invader as it was in 1814, when General Ross with 7000 men captured Washington, burned its public buildings, and put our president and his cabinet to precipitate flight. Within thirty days after a declaration of war England could land upon our shores and bring over our border three fully-equipped army corps of 30,000 men each. Suppose she sent two army corps in transports against Washington, we could not in thirty days bring more than 12,000 partially instructed national guard infantry and 10,000 regular troops to the defense of our national capital, and in these circumstances Washington would meet the same fate she did in 1814. With 13,000,000 of men to levy upon our national guard, upon which the defense of the government rests, is in a state of pitiable weakness through neglect. All the aid given the national guard by congress is the annual appropriation of $400,000, which gives to each man of our 106,000 organized militia less than $4 for arms, equipment, etc. This is so inadequate even for supplying the infantry soldier with modern arms that the organization of the necessary light artillery and cavalry is out of the question.

While the national government is doing absolutely nothing for the organization of our national militia, the state governments are organizing forces for their own use. General Kelton argues that these state organizations should be fostered by the general government, that all their needs should be provided for by congress, and that they should be instructed in time of peace by the regular army. To enable this militia to obtain skill in marksmanship 400 rounds of ammunition should be issued annually to each member of the National Guard. Of the 106,000 men now composing it not more than 55,000 have received any instruction that would fit them for reliable service against a foreign army of disciplined and trained regular troops. To oppose the invasion of 90,000 regular troops that England could land on our shores or bring over our borders, we need a force of not less than 100,000 instructed National Guardsmen, capable of being mustered into the United States service within forty-eight hours, to co-operate with the 15,000 available troops of the regular army. These men should have an average merit figure of 43 at the target range, and should have had in brigade formation a brief experience of camp life and of the discomforts and hardships of the march. To obtain these 100,000 men at least 150,000 men should appear on the rolls, for many men who are physically capable of ordinary military duties in mere transient local emergencies could not pass muster for the national service in war time. Our present National Guard of 106,500 men could not muster suddenly for war more than 40,000 men, for the expectation of a foreign war has not entered as a factor into their decision to enlist. These 150,000 National Guard troops of all arms should include fourteen battalions of four companies each—two for the Lake states, four for the New England states, three for New York and New Jersey, three for the remainder of the Atlantic seaboard and for the Gulf states, and two battalions for the Pacific coast—all these battalions to be transported to the nearest fort and sheltered and rationed by the general government for two weeks' practice every year. The expense of this heavy artillery, as a possible need of the general government rather than of the states, should be assumed by the United States. The National Guard should include 10,000 cavalry, and to secure it the general government should pay for hire of its mount, for its forage, and for the rent of its drill grounds and target range. With this support from the government it would be easy to organize and maintain a fine body of both cavalry and heavy artillery militia men on the Pacific coast. The young men in the country towns ride fairly well and are fond of horses, and for those who did not like cavalry service the heavy artillery drill would be more agreeable and interesting than ordinary infantry service. The National Guard should also include a field battery for each 2000 infantry. To secure this, the government should issue to every state a battery of light artillery fully equipped and horsed, and should pay for the shelter of the horses and guns. The government should "be authorized by law to muster into the United States service one captain, one lieutenant, two sergeants, four corporals and sixteen privates (as drivers) for each of these light artillery batteries, to be responsible therefor, and for that constant instruction of drivers and care and drill of horses upon which the efficiency of light artillery depends." Finally General Kelton would have the National Guard annually mustered into the United States service "in small battalions selected from all the regiments of each state, for forty days, to participate with the regular army in all the duties of field service and maneuvers on the great plains of the West during the annual encampments." By the adoption of these measures the nation will soon secure a large, efficient national force of all arms of the service at a cost to the general government of only $2,000,000 annually, including $300,000 for ordnance.

These recommendations of General Kelton may sound extravagant to those who remember the enormous number of men that we put into the field in thirty days at certain junctures during our civil war, but we did not do this until July, 1862, when our war had existed fifteen months and all the machinery for organizing, moving, arming and equipping great bodies of men had been created and perfected. Secondly, it must not be forgotten that the national guard wanted to-day is intended to successfully resist the impact of an invasion by the trained, disciplined troops of a foreign foe, and not simply to contend with the gallant but raw militia that composed the forces on both sides during our civil war.

NO MORE NEW ENGLAND PRESIDENTS.

That was rather a luminous perception of Senator Frye's, that the presidency will never again go to New England. Senator Frye has traveled and observed to good purpose. It would be well for some of his New England colleagues in the senate, if they saw as clearly and admitted as frankly as he, that the scepter of political control has passed away from the old New England of the north Atlantic coast. And it is well for all of us in the West, who understand this fact so well, to remember the other fact, that the power Senator Frye's New England has lost, has only passed to a newer and larger New England, redeemed from barrenness and barbarism by the sons of the old, and animated by the same aims, notions and purposes that made the old New England great. The West, from Ohio to Oregon is, in the main, what New England ideas and the New England spirit has made it. Its succession, long anticipated and now nearly realized, to the dominance in American politics, which once belonged to the north Atlantic states, continues unbroken the intellectual dynasty that the Adamses and the Otises founded, and the Websters, Everetts and Sumners maintained. However the political influence of New England may wane, the spiritual force which gave it vitality will endure so long as Americans rule the American republic. Men from Ohio and Illinois, Michigan or Minnesota may dominate in congress and sit in the presidential chair, but the ideas inherited from their New England ancestors will inspire and mould their action there, and they will rule the republic as their fathers ruled it before them. It is necessary to make this qualification to the truth so clearly foreseen and so frankly stated by the senator from Maine.

So far as the literal and contemporary influence of New England in the politics of the country is concerned, Senator Frye is undoubtedly right. Political power has departed from New England, and she will probably never have another president, unless she gives birth to another politician like Blaine, brilliant, shrewd and magnetic enough to compass the adoption of his person and his ambitions by a state or section having a larger share of influence in national politics, as Pennsylvania once seemed to adopt Blaine. The West is likely to make presidents hereafter, and it may make them out of New England material if it chooses. That it will so choose is, however, a slender probability. As parties are now organized, the struggle for political control is coming between the West and the South, with the Eastern middle states constituting a serviceable make-weight to either and often holding the balance of power. So long as the present attitude of the parties towards the tariff is maintained, the tendency of the Eastern manufacturing states should be more and more to the democratic side, while the producing states of the West will tend to diverge more and more from the party which proposes to remove protection from raw materials. The South will probably have to take its candidates for the presidency from among its Eastern allies for some time to come. The West is prolific of candidates of its own. Neither will have any need to draw upon New England. Senator Frye is probably a true prophet.

DISMAYED PUGILISTS.

The athletic clubs of San Francisco, under the auspices of which prize-fighting has been freely indulged, in defiance of state law, have met an unexpected obstacle to the continuance of this brutal sport in the veto of the $3000 license for sparring, by Mayor Pond. It is not probable that they will meet this action of the mayor with helpless dismay, alone, but will use every possible device to do away with, or circumvent it.

It is evident that this demoralizing and brutal "sport" is growing in favor, not only with the coarse and criminal classes, but that it is making substantial gains in toleration, at least, with ordinarily respectable and responsible citizens. Evidence of this is seen in the fact that the brutal "fights" between Sullivan and Kilrain was a topic of eager discussion during the entire summer. Expectation stood on tiptoe for weeks before it took place, while for weeks following its occurrence its incidents were commented upon by the morbidly curious. Later on the "sports" of the nation, together with thousands of citizens who would enter indignant protest against being thus classified, crowded around the bulletin boards upon which the progress of the La Blanche-Dempsey fight was recorded, anxious to learn the result.

It may be said that three distinct influences have been working in favor of prize fighting for some time past—the apathy of those who are in reality shocked and disgusted with the degrading proceeding, the attention shown it by a multitude of people, who, while they disapprove, give it their countenance and support, and the interest of thugs and bullies, who really worship brute force and enjoy its most cruel, wanton and even murderous display in the prize ring. The first of these, though a negative force, is more powerful than both of the others, while the last is an active force only through the sufferance or the seeming indorsement of the other two.

Pretended police surveillance and ostentatious display of constabulary vigilance have made a feint at preventing prize fighting and punishing those who engage in it, but the intervention is so thoroughly known for the farce that it is that no one expects to see even the most brutal and widely advertised fight interrupted by the timely arrival of officers with warrants for the arrest of the law-defying participants. So settled has the conviction become that nothing will be done to interrupt a fight or prevent its recurrence by the properly constituted authorities, that pretended effort in that direction is laughed to scorn by those engaged in the vocation, and dismissed with an incredulous smile by the public generally. It is for this reason that the veto of Mayor Pond carried such consternation to the camps of the San Francisco sports and aroused a general feeling of public surprise. If it accomplishes nothing else this veto has made plain the fact that prize fighting is not one of the insidious evils that must be endured, but one of the bold and brazen outrages upon public morals that can not only be controlled but that, as a public exhibition, managed to draw crowds and make money, it can be prevented. An honest, determined effort in this direction is all that is needed. This Mayor Pond appears to have made, and if it is properly sustained by the supervisors the movements of Dempsey and La Blanche and the "unknown" will cease to be of interest to the public of the Pacific coast, and even "our Dave" may engage in some useful and honest vocation suited to his strength and mental capacity—that, for example, of breaking rock upon the streets, reducing the lordly firs of our forests to four-foot wood for the winter market, or assisting in the loading and unloading of ships at our docks. While honorable vocations like these await the engagement of muscle, it is a pity for brawn to employ itself in idly boasting its thews and sinews.

COAST DEFENSES.

Some days ago THE OREGONIAN remarked that a good naval armament and seacoast defenses were wanted. The democratic paper of Pendleton, the East Oregonian, answers:

> Wanted by whom? By the politicians who want to plunder the people thereby, and keep themselves in power, and by nobody else. The people don't need these things, and ought to protest against being taxed hundreds of millions of dollars to provide them.

If this is democratic statesmanship Samuel J. Tilden was but a poor democratic statesman, since the very last of his public utterances was a letter to Speaker Carlisle, urging the necessity of an extended system of coast defenses. Mr. Tilden argued in a most earnest and impressive manner that every interest and motive of patriotism, regard for the public safety and for the honor of the country, demanded the immediate beginning and rapid prosecution of works of this character. He dwelt on the fact that our country is absolutely open to naval attack and ought not to remain in its defenseless condition. Mr. Tilden thought the people did "need these things," and said the work ought to be done now, when there was abundant money in the treasury for carrying it on.

If Mr. Tilden had been president and had made this recommendation, and undoubtedly he would have made it had he been president, the democratic organ at Pendleton would have been as earnest a supporter as it now is an opponent of the policy.

It seems that at least thirty of the heads and assistants of divisions in the pension bureau were illegally rerated by Tanner, according to Secretary Noble, "on mere opinion, the judgment of to-day annulling and setting aside that deliberately rendered years ago, and against which until recently no protest had ever been made by the pensioners." Since General Raum has taken hold of the pension office two of the employes of the bureau have been asked to return the money taken by them from the treasury in self-allowed ratings. Although General Raum is a wounded soldier of the civil war, and as such is entitled to a pension, he has never filed an application for one, and has no purpose of getting himself on the pension list. General John A. Logan, who was five times wounded, never made application for a pension. Farnham Post No. 458, department of New York, G. A. R., recently adopted resolutions declaring that "the only veterans who are of right entitled to pensions are those whose pecuniary circumstances are so unfortunate as to justify them in burdening the country with their support, and who by wounds or disability incurred in the service of the country as combatants are prevented from earning a living in their respective callings, as they might have done had such wounds or disabilities not been incurred." General Logan and General Raum evidently agreed with the spirit of this resolution, while Senator Manderson, General Black and Corporal Tanner belonged to a different breed of patriots.

About ten years ago the state of Vermont passed a new tax law, which compels the assessors to place real estate in the list at its actual value, and compels every tax payer to swear to his list, and in event of a refusal or neglect of the taxpayer to file with the assessors a schedule of all his property, to which he has made oath, the assessors are obliged to make up his list by doubling the value of all his real estate and all his other discoverable property. Upon this amount the delinquent taxpayer is taxed. This law has worked well, as will be seen by the following statistics furnished by the Vermont secretary of state: Number of polls, 79,157; number acres land, 4,887,106; personal property valuation, $49,911,339; total grand list, $176,241,860. The valuation of the real estate assessed in 1879 was $71,017,981, and of personal property, $15,375,533, making a total grand list of $86,303,514. The grand list for this year is $176,706,003, which is a gain of about $90,000,000 in ten years.

The man who is primarily at fault for the blunders in surveying the Umatilla reservation is Sparks, formerly commissioner of the general land office. Instead of allowing the surveyor general of Oregon to contract with competent persons for survey of the reservation, at the rates allowed by law for such work, Sparks ordered that the contract be let to the lowest bidder. Under this order the work fell into incompetent hands, and the result is a series of blunders, with indefinite delay. To censure the surveyor general of Oregon for a piece of botch work that he had no hand in is most unjust. This job is one of the fruits of the recent reform administration of Grover Cleveland. Sparks didn't know that work requiring special skill couldn't be done by cheap men.

The senatorial contest at Olympia is anybody's fight at this stage. Allen seems to be ahead on the east side of the mountains, with the possibility of a combination of all the other candidates from that section against him. On the west side, the two Tacoma candidates propose to have a test of strength in the legislative caucus before either of them withdraw. This is rather a dangerous experiment with the Seattle candidate, supported by a solid delegation, in the field against both of them. No delegation on the ground at Olympia shows more enthusiasm and confidence than that from Spokane.

D. W. Taylor is the most competent surveyor general this state ever had, and everybody knows it. No man could have attended to official duties more carefully than Mr. Taylor has done. He is not a politician, but a man thoroughly devoted to the profession of surveying and civil engineering, and has not a superior in that profession in the state. The new commissioner of the general land office has been hasty and unjust. Evidently he does not know that Mr. Taylor had nothing whatever to do with the survey of the Umatilla reservation. Had he directed it, the work would have been done properly.

The Montana canvassing board has completed its work, and made its returns as previously prepared, with the vote of the tunnel precinct left out. This gives the legislature to the republicans by six majority in spite of the mandamus ruling by Justice De Wolf. The legislature will probably meet before the supreme court can pass upon that case. As a last resort, the democrats are prepared to secede and assemble a rump legislature of the members claimed to be elected, or to block legislation by breaking a quorum. This is a revolutionary and so an essentially democratic proceeding.

PERSONS WORTH KNOWING ABOUT.

The Right Honorable James Whitehead, formerly lord mayor of London, has been made baronet.

Inventor Edison's 16-year-old daughter is said to be almost marvelously bright. She is described as a fair musician, a good draughtsman, and she speaks four languages.

Hon. J. P. St. John, of Kansas, is down in Maryland trying to defeat the prohibition ticket by making speeches in favor of it. There can be no doubt that his effort will prove successful.

John J. Astor, who is reported engaged to Mrs. Bowler, a Cincinnati widow, is 68 years old, but is said to be still handsome and vigorous. How could he be otherwise when he is worth $150,000,000?

Archbishop Satolli, papal delegate to the Catholic centennial in Baltimore next week, has arrived at New York on the La Champagne. He was met by a number of representatives of Cardinal Gibbons.

Jay Gould is frequently sick. He recovers whenever he comes West. Mr. Gould should move to the West. Persons in moderate circumstances can live here just as economically as they can in New York.

General Mahone weighs only 106 pounds, while the indicator marks 225 when his wife puts a nickel in the slot. Nevertheless, Mrs. Mahone does not wear the breeches—possibly because she cannot get them on.

Ballard Smith, managing editor of the New York World, is announced to be married the 15th inst. in London to Miss Butterfield, of San Francisco, a charming young lady said to be worth considerably over $1,000,000.

Among the candidates for the chair in the French Academy, made vacant by Augier's death, are Emile Zola, Francisque Sarcey, Lugeni Manuel, Emile Bergerot and Henry Becque. The election will take place in six months.

Mrs. Crawford, the well-known Paris correspondent of the London Daily News and of Mr. Labouchere's Truth, is the only lady member of the celebrated Cobden Club, and one of the most prominent characters of contemporary Parisian history.

Miss Jessie Holmes, who was connected with the failure of the fidelity bank, secured through friends a government position. She was leading a good, pure life, but members of her own sex hounded her, and secured her dismissal. An old story of woman's inhumanity to woman repeated.

Attorney-General Miller is again spoken of as a probable appointee to the supreme bench of the United States. Talk has also lately been heard about Circuit Judge Brewer, of Kansas, for the same position. It is not known that he has any better prospects that Judge Brown, of Michigan, or Judge Woods, of Indianapolis, but he is a possibility.

SPIRIT OF THE NORTHWEST PRESS.

TOO GOOD FOR LAZY INDIANS.

Ellensburgh Localizer: There is a small band of Indians holding a large block of mineral country bordering on the line and lying between Okanogan and Columbia rivers. It is very little used by the Indians yet. It is in the bounds of the reservation and cannot even be prospected. Early steps should be taken to make the Indians take their land upon the same conditions as the whites. But as long as it is reserved for the Indians the country will remain undeveloped, and be kept back. A movement will be made at the next session of congress to have the reserve thrown open for settlement. Too much deference was paid to Chief Moses when the reservation was made. It is a part of the country to which he has no legitimate claim, and entirely too much land was given him for the needs of his fragmentary band.

BAD FOR LAND SETTLERS.

Lakeview Examiner: There is a strong prospect that the entrymen of desert lands will be obliged to go to congress to protect their holdings from wholesale sequestration by the geological survey. The bill passed by the last congress relating to surveys for irrigation bureaus, gave the secretary of the interior sweeping powers for the reservation of all lands recommended by the director of the geological survey as necessary or suitable for the extension of irrigation canals. It fixed the date of reservation at October, 20, 1888, and any entries made after that date must be at the entryman's risk of having them taken by the government.

INTENDED FOR SECRETARY WISDOM.

Montana Mining Review: 'Silver ores are crushed and milled, the base metals thrown away or wasted, and the gold and silver only saved. Lead ores are those which, while they may be rich in gold and silver, are always smelted, and the lead becomes an important factor in the value of the bullion.'

That is about all there is to it and if the secretary is really desirous to ascertain the true character of the ores now being imported he has only to inform himself of the method of reduction—the process of extracting the values—and the question is answered."

TO ASSIST IRRIGATION.

Idaho Daily Statesman: A novel water-storage scheme that, it is believed, could be practiced successfully in many portions of Idaho is suggested by a competent engineer. It is to freeze large quantities of water at high altitudes during the winter season, really making glaciers by the aid of artificial agencies to govern the flow of water according to the freezing capacity of each locality, which replenish the streams during the driest of the summer season. This suggested as a remedy for the difficulty of damming deep gulches and to avoid the danger which reservoirs entail.

A DARK POLITICAL SCHEME.

Walla Walla Daily Union: Some one having a scheme that won't bear daylight proposes that the republican members from the East hold a separate caucus and select a man for senator, while the republican members from the West do likewise. All such propositions should be trod on as soon as they show their heads. The time for dividing the state has passed forever, and every proposal that has a tinge of sectionalism should be strangled at birth. Let us unite to make Washington the greatest state in the Union. It has the resources.

NEWSPAPER FLUNKEYISM.

Wardner News: The introduction of flunkeyism into our newspapers is a thing to be regretted, and the assumption of useless appellations of dignity and loud-sounding marks of distinction should be avoided by all who glory in the title of plain American citizen. Every woman in this country, educated and refined, is a first lady, and no distinction should be made between true American women, who are both queens and empresses in their own right.

WELL TIMED WARNING.

Grant County News: "The wanton destruction of the American bison fifteen years ago was a great waste which is now deeply regretted, but there was not enough interest taken in the matter at that time to refrain the practice. It will be the same thing a few years hence with regard to the forests of the Northwest, which are every year uselessly destroyed by fires, which in time will mean the destruction of millions of dollars."

HARD TIMES FOR FARMERS.

East Oregonian: "Many fields of grain sown for next season's harvest have been mortgaged in this section, which is a sad evidence of the sore financial strait in which some of our farmers have been placed by this season's partial crop failure. If good crops and good prices prevail next year, however all will be able to struggle out of the quicksands of indebtedness and land again upon the secure ground of prosperity.'

A SUNDAY VISIT TO PORTLAND.

Corvallis Times: Portland is a great city. In fact, the largest of its size on the butt end of the nineteenth century. It is located on the verdure banks of the Willamette river and is noted for its big beer mugs and the home of Harvey Scott. King Alcohol reigns supreme seven days in the week, but all other business firms must "remember the Sabbath day" under penalty of a fine of $25 for selling even a handkerchief."

GIBBS'S GRATITUDE TO PORTLAND'S POLICE.

Arlington Times: The Portland police have become the byword of the newspapers all over the coast on account of the manner in which they have displayed their lack of ability in the now notorious Gibbs case. This criminal probably has enough love for them, however, to supply what is lacking. Gibbs undoubtedly knows that the Portland police has saved his neck from a well deserved stretching.

WANTS WIDE-AWAKE OFFICIALS.

Baker City Democrat: The future progress of the city rests to a large extent with the selection of persons to the council. If it should be the city's good fortune to have live citizens in that honorable body we will have no fear of the result. If on the other hand obstructionists are selected Baker City will receive a blow that it will take years to recover from.

QUEER JUDICIAL ETHICS.

Butte Inter Mountain: This journal does not presume to be familiar with all the intricacies of the law, nor to instruct any court as to its decisions. It simply submits that if yesterday morning the court was a party in interest, it had not ceased to be such in the afternoon by a mere amendment to a writ.

MORMONISM RAMPANT

Ascendancy of the Church Is the Bane of Utah.

REPORT OF GOVERNOR THOMAS

Growth, Wealth, Resources, Needs and Prospects of the Territory—The Public School System—The Great Problem.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Arthur L. Thomas, governor of Utah territory, in his annual report, estimates the population of the territory at 230,000, an increase of nearly 86,000 since 1880. During the last nine years the foreign born population, numbering in 1880 about 50,841, has been increased by Mormon immigration 16,094. The aggregate assessed valuation of the property of incorporated cities and towns for 1889 is $80,596,000, with an indebtedness of $495,000.

Upon the subject of unoccupied lands the governor says the question of what the government should do with the vast tracts which can be used only for grazing is assuming vital importance throughout the West, and is directly associated with the problem of our cheap food supply. Under present conditions these lands are used by persons engaged in stock raising. There is harmony of interests among them, and there being no protection afforded by law in the use of lands, there is frequent conflict between clashing interests. The governor is of the opinion that if the government would provide a way by which persons engaged in stock growing could acquire a title to grazing lands, which can never be used for agricultural purposes, it would remove one of the most serious drawbacks to the growth of the stock industry and the prompt settlement of the country. The grazing and the mountain land of Utah, he says, constitute nearly seven-eighths of the entire area.

The mining industry, the report states, has been generally prosperous. Several new important developments were made in Park City and other mining camps. "It is the opinion of miners," says the governor, "that there would be a great increase in mineral product if it were not for what they believe to be an erroneous construction of the law relative to the admission of lead ores by the treasury department.

In the course of the report upon public and denominational schools in Utah, the governor says: "While Utah has a very fair system of public schools, they fall far short of what they should be. The tax collections for the support of the schools do not pay the expense of maintaining them, consequently the pupils must pay the tuition, or the schools be closed. In many of the poorer districts the children are denied school privileges for many months of the year. There is but little prospect, in fact there is no prospect, that this will be changed. I am led to this conclusion by the fact that the Mormon people, with entire unanimity, are quietly preparing for denominational schools, in which their children may be taught Mormon theology in addition to the ordinary system. State or county academies have been established under church auspices, and in some of the school districts the Mormon children have been withdrawn from the public schools and placed in church schools."

The governor quotes from a letter written by Wilford Woodruff, president of the Mormon church, to establish church schools. Woodruff, in the course of the letter quoted, says: "We feel that the time has arrived when the proper education of our children should be taken in hand by us as a people. Religious training is practically excluded from the public schools. The perusal of the books that are valuable as divine records is forbidden. Our children, if left to the training they receive in these schools, will grow up entirely ignorant of those principles of salvation for which the Latter Day Saints have made so many sacrifices. To permit this condition of things to exist among us would be criminal."

The governor recommends that congress place the control of the public schools in the hands of those who are friendly to the public school system.

"During the last year," the governor says, "the people of Utah have enjoyed universal prosperity. The Indians in the northeast part of the territory are contented and give but little cause of complaint." The governor, however, strongly protests against the removal to Utah of the Utes, now in Southern Colorado, merely to satisfy the selfish demands of the people of another state.

The apportionment of 1887, under the Edmunds-Tucker act, was based on the census of 1880. The governor asks a new apportionment after the next census.

Speaking of the Gentiles' strength in the territory, the governor says that the time may come when the Gentiles will be in the majority, but it will be many years hence. The facts are that outside of Salt Lake City the Gentile population is found in the mining camps and the smaller railroad towns. In Salt Lake and Ogden they own more than one-half of the real property. The great bulk of the population in Utah is Mormon, and always will be. In the valleys nearly all the land under cultivation and the water that can be used to irrigate it, without great expense, is owned and appropriated by Mormons, and as they hold and own the land and water, they hold and own Utah.

The governor writes at some length upon the present attitude of the Mormon people. They have accepted the doctrine of polygamy, he says, and will probably adhere to it as long as they live. Firm religious enthusiasm is their leading characteristic, and as a whole, they are law-abiding, especially, as far as the law is confirmed by the priesthood, but they accept the doctrine of plural marriage in all sincerity, and as a radical and necessary part of their religion. "It may be as well to understand," continues the governor, "that the strength of Mormonism, both among the masses and the officials, is in its sincerity, and not in its imposture. A fair degree of sincerity is the only virtue we can ascribe to political and official Mormonism. When it has a point to attain, Mormonism deals in evasion, meaningless words, words of double meaning, hypocritical pretenses, false associations and every helpful evasion of word or act."

The Mormon church, the governor says, actively engages in politics, and adds: "I don't hesitate to say that any temporizing policy which leaves the church in a position to control the political policy of the territory is only delaying the final settlement, and that future legislation should be aimed at the political power of the church, which has been the main pillar of its strength in Utah."

SEARCHING FOR THE "LOST CABIN."

The Fate That Befel Three Venturesome Men from Linkville, Oregon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The following story, which seems to have wandered far from home, came by telegraph to the Examiner last night from Cheyenne, Wyo.:

Three more names have been added to the long list of venturesome spirits who have given their lives to searching for the historical "lost cabin" gold mines in the deep recesses of the Wolf mountains of Carbonado county, and another dark mystery is made a portion of the legend which originated with "forty-niners."

A party of hunters last week came on an old camp on the shore of Diamond lake, about 200 miles from Fort Klamath, in a wild and desolate country. Only a few feet from the ashes and charred pine knots of a fire were found the skeletons of three men, wrapped in blankets, as if they had calmly gone to their long sleep. Their flesh was dried to mummification by the rare air, and clung to their bones. In the pockets of one was a considerable sum of money and a handsome gold watch. A valise contained a few articles of clothing and a book, which told the story of the search for wealth up to August, 1886.

The men were Charles G. Burns and George and Nathan Hubbard, who left Linkville, Or., in the spring of 1886, lured to the Wolf mountains by the stories of wealth to come to those who might locate the "Lost Cabin" and adjacent rich placer claims. They hurried across the country with all possible speed, scarcely resting in the shadow of the mountains of mystery.

Their search had been conducted very systematically. One of them was a surveyor, and with his instruments measured off a "stint" for each. The work was equally divided, and all labored with a will. Sometimes hope was high, and nearly as often they were discouraged. Once Burns wrote in a decidedly sarcastic vein of the folly of three men who essayed to search beneath the surface of every inch of an area of nearly 1,000,000 acres.

"Some wild places approached," he said, "looked as though they must contain pockets of gold, but in no place have I yet seen a formation to indicate the occurrence of yellow gold."

Then he seemingly becomes reconciled, and adds: "But this is a mining country. To live, you need only a little flour, few clothes, a gun and ammunition and fishing tackle."

But he never discredited the legend of "the lost cabin," but often wondered if nature had not removed the treasure.

The story is that miners en route to California located claims and were driven out by the Indians. They proposed returning in the spring, but two, more avaricious than the others, came back in the dead of winter, were lost, and becoming crazed, wandered to a settlement and divulged the secret. The search became general, but fruitless. When the original locators came back, they were dismayed at their inability to find their cabin and claims. Some believed the Indians played a trick; others that a landslide did the work.

CHEHALIS AFFAIRS.

Hotel Accommodations to Be Increased—Industrial Notes of Interest.

CHEHALIS, Nov. 3.—J. C. Brush has purchased of Frank Owen his interest in the Chehalis Bee and is now the sole proprietor. Mr. Owen has been the editor of the Bee just one year, and had the satisfaction of seeing it emerge from the position of an obscure country weekly to that of the leading inland newspaper of Western Washington, enjoying a profitable business, and now sells to engage in another occupation. He has ample faith in Chehalis, however, and will remain here.

Chehalis has outgrown her hotel accommodations and for some time has been in absolute need of increased and better accommodations for travelers. Now there seems to be a likelihood that these will be furnished. NTY JAIL AGAIN.

Professor Wetzel Tenders His Resignation as Principal.

W H WATKINDS DIES SUDDENLY

The High School of the City Needs a Principal very Much.

HIS DEATH A VERY LONELY ONE

Batwell's Matrimonial Troubles—Police Commissioners—Laying Robbery—Is It Gibbs?—Dumb Animals—Mr Stocklager Talks.

County Judge John Catlin was yesterday asked what steps were being taken towards improving the condition of the county jail.

"No," replied he, "at least no immediate action will be taken in the matter The south wing will be ready for occupancy in the near future and, as soon as it contains quarters for sixty four prisoners. The old portion of the jail can still be used for confining minor offenders in ... doing short time can be confined in this portion of the jail, and the desperate characters in the south wing"

County Commissioner David M Dunne said that some action might be taken in the matter at the next meeting of the board, which takes place to-morrow

PROFESSOR WETZELL RESIGNS.

He Is No Longer Superintendent of the Schools of East Portland—The Vacancy.

The East Portland school directors held a meeting last night in the office of the clerk, A W. Lambert.

Professor W A. Wetzell tendered his resignation as superintendent, which was accepted.

No appointment was made to fill the vacancy The respective principals, Professor Adams of Stephens school, Professor Robinson of Central, and Mrs. Al..rds of North Central, will have charge of there departments and report to the school clerk. The school work will continue right along, without interruption

SUDDEN DEATH OF WM. H WATKINDS.

He Is Found Lifeless Yesterday in the Gilman House—A Short Sketch of Deceased.

William H. Watkinds was found dead in a room in the Gilman house a little before noon yesterday by a chambermaid, who went in to make up the room. He was in a sitting position in one corner of the room as if his feet had slipped from under him, and his head was bent forward upon his breast. The girl supposed he was asleep, and called the porter to assist in getting him out of his uncomfortable position The porter saw at a glance that he was dead, and notified the clerk, Mr Cleveland, who at once had Dr Panton summoned but he could render no aid, as life was extinct.

Mr Watkinds has been rooming somewhere up town for the past two months but stayed at the Gilman Saturday night and Sunday night He was seriously ill some two or three months since, but of late appeared to be in good health On Sunday he went walking with Mr W A McPherson two miles out in the country, and seemed to be in good health and spirits, and said he was thinking of going to Spokane Falls to go into the saddlery business. About 4 30 yesterday morning he started for a walk up First street from the Gilman house. He met Mr. McPherson and asked him to go along but the latter excused himself as he did not feel like walking

A short time after he saw Watkinds coming back down the street, assisted by Policeman Bird. Bird met him at Yamhill street, and was asked to help him to the hotel Watkinds said he had been up to the St. Louis saloon and had taken a drink, and he felt very queer On the way he remarked that he had slept well and was feeling well Bird assisted him into the Gilman and saw no more of him. He went to his room, but shortly after went out again, as the elevator boy says he took him up to his room about 8 o'clock He was probably taken with some kind of a fit or fainting spell, and dropped to the floor and his head dropping on his breast he choked to death.

BRIEF BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

William H. Watkinds was born in Greencastle, Putnam county, Indiana, December 7, 1835 Together with his mother and other members of his family except his father who preceded them by two years, he came to Oregon in 1852 crossing the plains with ox-teams. Arriving in the Willamette valley the family proceeded to Soda Springs, Linn county near the town of Lebanon, where the father had located a land claim There he engaged in the work of improving the farm until 1855, when he went to Salem and became an apprentice to learn the saddler and harness trade His advantages of obtaining an education were limited, he being able to attend school at Lebanon during a small portion of the time he remained with his father on the farm.

He was a democrat, and he early began giving much attention to politics His first vote was cast for Gen. Joseph Lane for delegate to congress. He located in Salem, where he continued for some years to carry on his business successfully The first state convention he attended was at Eugene City in 1860, when he was sent as a delegate, and at which time he supported Stephen A Douglas for president, With few exceptions he was a member of every democratic state convention for many years.

He was twice a member of the democratic state central committee of Marion county In 1870 he was appointed superintendent of the Oregon state penitentiary by Gov Grover and reappointed in 1874 upon that gentleman's re-election Upon the election of Gov Grover to the United States senate in 1876 Mr Watkinds resigned the office of superintendent, During his term of office he was appointed one of the penitentiary building commissioners, of which body he was elected chairman. He came to Portland some eight or ten years since and was engaged in the saddlery business for some time. He was appointed chief of police under Mayor Chapman and held the office for about a year After that he was in business for a time, but for the past few years has not been in any permanent business and has been in poor health.

The remains were taken charge of by Coroner DeLin but it was not deemed necessary to hold an inquest, and they will be taken to Salem for interment to-morrow

"WE MUST HAVE A PRINCIPAL."

The High School Needs One Badly—Yesterday's Special Board Meeting

The board of school directors met at the parlors of the Commercial National bank yesterday afternoon Chairman Thompson presiding

The occasion was a special session, called for the purpose of electing a successor to Miss Schermerhorn who is going to Cleveland, O , on a six months' leave of absence. She goes next Tuesday, and it was thought advisable that her successor be given the advantage of a week in the room with Miss Schermerhorn.

On motion of Director Durham Miss Lydia Barnum was chosen to fill the vacancy, which is in the third grade of the North school

The new incumbent comes with high endorsements. She has been stopping in the city for some weeks past, hailing from the Valparaiso, Indiana, normal school of which she is a graduate, and more recently from Illinois, where she has been teaching.

Quite a number of bills were in the clerk's hands, together with a considerable accumulation of other business, but as nobody wanted to take them up, they went over to the next meeting Mrs. Ridgway was excused for tardiness.

THE HIGH SCHOOL GROWING SMALLER

"It seems to me gentlemen," said Director Durham "that steps should be taken with all possible promptness towards securing a principal for the High school. If we can not choose one now, we ought certainly to begin to cast about for the proper person.

Teckelson—Are there any applications for the place?

Chairman Thompson—No No one seems to know that the position is vacant

Superintendent Sabin—There are a number of applications on file for High school positions, but nearly if not all of the applicants are strangers to all of us."

Durham—It is simply the plain truth that those private schools which are springing up are making serious inroads on our High school enrollment. I am informed that of the graduates of the grammar department this coming commencement will go on in the High school The others are taken up by these new academies, seminaries, etc.

LESS THAN HALF

A comparison of notes on the part of the members of the board showed that the recent active efforts of more than one private institution in the city has been the means of drawing large numbers of the youth

Mr. Ladd attributed the fact, largely to the non descript character of the High school curriculum "I believe," he said, "in giving a thorough higher course, including Latin and Greek. We had better have no high school at all or else have the sort of higher education which people want "

Chairman Thompson—The High school is at present practically growing less. Thus in 1882 it had an enrollment of 168 in 84 1?? in '85, 245 in 87, 226, in 88 2 6 and in 1889 the same number, 226. So that while the grammar ... swing the High school either falls off or stands still.

Superintendent Sabin—Yes, and in face of the fact that the grammar departments are constantly growing more and more crowded.

Chairman Thompson—Now, while these other schools are improving their facilities and adding to their facilities, we are allowing the High school to be run without a recognized head The children know that Professor Henderson has resigned and that Mr Kise is only temporarily over them It's demoralizing A principal having authority ought to be elected and that speedily

No motion being submitted, the board adjourned until Friday night.

DEATH IN A LONELY CAVE.

The Body Found Near Bridal Veil Is That of Edward Carter, an Old Soldier.

Coroner DeLin yesterday morning took a run up to Bridal Veil to take charge of the body of the man who was found dead in a cave about a mile this side of there Saturday afternoon

The cave, said Mr DeLin, "is not more than twenty feet from the railway track, and the mouth of it is so small that a person has to stoop in entering It is a natural cave, and must extend a hundred feet or more into the embankment. The bottom of the cave is very uneven, and we found the remains lying on a litter made out of small, round sticks laid across two boards The body was lying on the side in a natural posture, and there was no indication of any struggle having taken place before death "

The black mark on the forehead was not caused by violence as was supposed by the parties who first discovered the body in the cave It was merely a small red spot produced by congestion of the blood, and had no bearing on the cause of death Lying beside the body was a dilapidated ancient-looking valise, containing some old clothes and a quantity of chewing tobacco There was not a crumb found in the cave, or a scrap of anything to eat.

HE WAS AN OLD SOLDIER

The body was clad in an old threadbare suit and in one of the pockets was found a document which established the identity of deceased. It was a paper announcing the discharge of Edward Carter, a private of company F, Captain David Croucher Fourth Regiment of Maryland, on May 31 1865 at the city of Baltimore Carter enlisted August 7th 1862 and consequently at the time of his discharge had served his term of enlistment He was born at Anne, Anarundel county, Maryland, in 1835, which would make him 54 years old at the time of death

Carter was seen picking up wood along the rail way track and carrying it into the cave by members of the Saylor family, who live near by, last Tuesday night. Being asked what he was doing, he replied he intended to camp in the cave over night The next day having occasion to pass that way, their curiosity prompted them to peek into the cave The old man was lying there as if asleep, and they left him without venturing to disturb him No more was thought about the old man, until Saturday, when his body was found lying in the same position and an investigation revealed the fact that he was dead

As Mr De Lin had taken a coffin along he had the body buried at Bridal Veil No inquest was neccessary, as death clearly resulted from natural causes.

VIOLATED HIS MARITAL VOWS

Edward A. Batwell Said to Love Another Woman Better Than His Wife

Another case wherein a man is charged with loving another woman better than the one he swore to love, cherish and protect was brought to light yesterday by Mattie A Batwell suing her husband Edward A Batwell, for a divorce. After setting forth that at all times since their marriage she has been a true and loving wife, plaintiff alleges,

"That during the months of May, June, July, August, September, October November and December, 1888, the defendant at divers times has committed the crime of adultery with one Emma ———, a person to the plaintiff unknown at a house on the east side of Sixth street, between Hall and College, * * * that all of said acts of adultery were committed without the consent connivance or previous knowledge of plaintiff, and that she has not lived with the defendant since she became cognizant of the several acts of adultery "

The plaintiff and defendant intermarried at Omaha, Neb July 19 1887 The former asks to be allowed to resume her maiden name of Mattie A. Ruble

ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE

The defendant in this case is well, if not favorably known in this city He arrived here in May, 1888 from Omaha, in company with a young woman who passed as his wife She was intelligent and good looking and evidently of French extraction They stayed at a hotel for a short time and he soon obtained employment at his profession being a very competent, capable man He soon after secured accommodation for himself and ' wife ' at a respectable boarding house where they formed the acquaintance of a number of ladies and gentlemen and being of good address, and to all appearance well behaved, became favorites in the little circle into which they had secured entrance On what they stated was

THE THIRD ANNIVERSARY

Of their wedding day, quite a demonstration was made by their friends in the house in honor of the event, and the supposed wife was the recipient of several testimonials of regard in the shape of presents from some of her fellow boarders. Every thing went swimmingly with the couple, whose conduct aroused no suspicion of anything improper and they made a number of acquaintances among the friends of their fellow boarders, and life seemed fair before them, but a cloud was rising in the East in the form of another woman —the true and lawful wife of Mr Batwell. In October, or thereabouts he concluded to go to housekeeping and secured quarters in the upper story of a house up town, giving as references his employers, well known architects of this city and the people with whom he and his paramour had been boarding Just what led to this removal is not known, but about that time

THE REAL MRS BATWELL

Arrived here in search of her husband, and it is probable that being warned of this he thought best to seek a more secluded habitation Mrs Batwell not finding her husband, sought employment and soon secured a situation in the house of a prominent and wealthy citizen, where she discharged her duties to the satisfaction of her employer, proving herself not only a capable servant but a very intelligent and well behaved woman She employed all her leisure time in endeavoring to find her husband and at length, by inquiring at the postoffice, found out his whereabouts and also that he was living with another woman

Finally she met him but instead of owning her as his wife he refused to have anything to do with her, and told her it was

NONE OF HER BUSINESS

What he was doing or how he was living, and commanded her to keep away from him altogether Seeing that his wife meant to give him trouble Batwell took Joe Day into his confidence On her visiting his house in the latter's company she got no satisfaction, and it ended in the matter being hushed up temporarily However, on the following Saturday Batwell was arrested on a charge of adultery preferred by his abused wife His friends tried to hush the matter up but THE OREGONIAN, at the time, published the full facts of the case

Batwell sent his mistress out of the state on the facts of his liason becoming public property She is the Emma ——— referred to in Mrs Batwell's complaint When the case of the man who is now defendant in the divorce proceedings came up before Judge Stearns, he was fined $500, which he paid.

BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS

Regular Meeting—New Policeman Appointed—Watson and Holmberg Made Captains

A regular meeting of the board of police commissioners was held last evening, President Simon presiding and Commissioners Cardwell and Frank present.

The applications of Walter A Robinson John Reugg and E K Whitehead, for positions on the police force, were read and placed on file

The police pay roll for October, amounting to $3696 65, and bills incurred by the department amounting to $307 50 were certified to the common council for payment

Chief of Police Parrish was instructed to procure a map of the city for use in his office and also directed to make repairs to sidewalks in front of the city jail, in accordance with notice from superintendent of Streets W S Chapman

E K Whitehead was on motion of commissioner Frank appointed a regular policeman and, on motion of Commissioner Cardwell, Andrew Holmberg and James F Watson were appointed captains of police They have been filling the position for some time

WHARF AND STREAM.

The New Scheme—The Ocklahama's Double Load—Large Boilers—Puget Sound Shipping

The Lurline made her initial trip yesterday on her new Portland-Cascades route

After a thorough overhauling, the tug boat Escort has gone back down the river to resume her regular service on the bar

The two new arrivals in port yesterday of ocean vessels were the Ben Nevis and the Largo Law, both towed by the Ocklahama.

The Columbia's present cargo from San Francisco includes two immense steam boilers for the Willamette Falls Pulp Company's works at Oregon City These boilers are built on an entirely new plan and are altogether different from any ever seen here The tubes are all under the boiler, none being in the drum They are four inches in diameter, twenty five feet long and there are seventy one of them to each boiler The diameter of the longitudinal drum is about five feet The boilers will be taken up to the plant at once Work on the pulp mills is being crowded ahead with as much speed as possible.

Two of the Puget sound line steamers are in port together, the Idaho and the Michigan Captain Angerstein of the former takes some satisfaction in having beaten the Michigan although the latter had a start of twelve hours. The trade on this line is rapidly growing ... the captain to a reporter yesterday ... brought a large cargo of fine coal ... the consolidated town, ... comprising Sehome, Fairhaven and Bellingham, is ... a large amount of ... the ... A handsome boat is the new steamer which is being built from the house of the old Mountain Queen and which will be launched in about a week The contractor has until the 15th of the month for the completion, and at that time his limit expires The new boat will be christened the Fenon ... a selection made by the owner in honor of the port of that name situated in Whatcom county Wash on Bellingham bay The big side wheels with their gracefully built house, show off to splendid advantage She will soon be given the finishing touches upon her woodwork. The machinery is all in and about ready for work A number of steam connections remain to be made The boiler is in position As soon as the new boat has been completed and inspected, she will be prepared for a sea going trip and will be taken to the Sound the field of her future operations

DARING HIGHWAYMEN.

David Parsons, a Young Man, "Held Up" and Relieved of His Surplus Cash

David Parsons a young man employed by the Boston Rubber Shoe Company was robbed by three daring highwaymen early Sunday morning

At about 4 o'clock Sunday morning finding himself in a negro resort on Second and A streets and probably realizing the character of the house he thought it about time to go to his room in the Overland hotel As he left the saloon, he noticed three men following him but thought nothing of it, until, when on a street between First and Second, he was struck from behind and felled to the sidewalk As soon as he recovered he called loudly for the police and attracted the attention of two messenger boys who saw three men run from the spot and enter the saloon above mentioned.

Officers Day and Barry by this time arrived, and acting upon the direction given by the boys, entered the saloon and arrested the men, two of whom were colored and one white The white man gave the name of John Berry, and the negroes who are hardly more than boys, gave as their names George Smith and Jerry Hazlewood

In the police court yesterday the trio waived examination and were held to answer before the grand jury with bonds fixed at $1000 in each case.

IS IT THE REAL GIBBS THIS TIME ?

The Reported Arrest of a Colored Man in Yreka County, California, by a Sheriff.

The search for Gibbs is being prosecuted with as much vigor as ever Officers are looking for the fugitive in all sections of the state, and their inability to find him is very tantalizing If one were to judge by the number of dispatches reporting the whereabouts of some imaginative Gibbs, daily received by the police officials here, one would think that his name is legion,

But the difficulty is in finding the right Gibbs This is conceded by all who have participated in the search, and if Gibbs were to be questioned he, no doubt would admit the truthfulness of the asseveration There is one conclusion that all of the searchers have unanimously arrived at, and that is, that Oregon is a large state. The fugitive's stamping ground is altogether too large Another fact that strikes them with equally as much force is that Gibbs is a slippery coon " He is a dark horse but, unlike the traditional dark horses of political campaigns, he does not loom up at the supreme moment In fact, he does not loom up at all From the dispatches already received it would seem that the Gibbs tribe is most numerous in Eastern Oregon Southern Oregon comes second and now California aspires for the honors of being third in line.

The following dispatch was received from Yreka last night

The sheriff arrested at Hamburg bar in this (Yreka) county, a man supposed to be Gibbs the colored porter who killed James McDevitt and wounded his father some weeks ago "

If this is Gibbs it is possible that he was the same one who was seen in the vicinity of Medford, about a week ago Several marshals, constables, and other officials with various titles are after him Among these is officer Woods of the Portland police force

PROTECTORS OF DUMB BRUTES.

What the Oregon Humane Society Is Doing in the Name of Humanity

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Oregon Humane Society held at the Unitarian chapel, Officer Martin the special officer of the society, submitted the following report covering the period from March 30th to September 30th Visits to the slaughter houses 60 visits to the markets, 63 animals humanely killed, 8, persons convicted for cruelty, 4, complaints without sufficient proof to convict 74 cruelty to children 6 horses overloaded 1. horses overdriven 18, horses worked with galled backs, 6 horses insufficiently shod, 4 horses worked in rickety condition, 4

The report does not include all cases of cruelty as many offenders escape detection especially in working horses with galled shoulders or backs The society however is actively at work, and no complaint will pass unnoticed if properly presented to the officer of the society

The meetings of the executive board will hereafter be monthly instead of quarterly, as heretofore The meetings will be held on the first Saturday of each month The society is doing much good in the city, and all whose sympathies go out to the abused and ill treated dumb brutes, are invited to become members of the society

BURNING RUBBISH ON THE STREET

The Ordinance is Being Violated With Impunity Every Day.

The complaint made in regard to contractors who put in new sidewalks burning the old ones they have taken up on the streets is a very just one It was specified in the contracts let for some time that the contractors should not burn the old sidewalks in the streets but their violations were winked at, and now they all do it.

An ordinance is now before the council, and has been read twice and referred to a committee, providing that no rubbish shall be burned on any of the improved streets of the city It is a very proper ordinance, and unless allowed to go to sleep in committee as the contractors boast it will, there is no doubt but it will be passed at the next meeting of the council. A fire in a street may not hurt the street very much, but in scores of places the shade trees have been injured in this way, and the nails and spikes left on the streets are dangerous to horses, quite a number of which have been killed by picking up nails in the streets Let the man who takes a contract to lay sidewalks charge enough to enable him to have the old planks hauled away, and not burn people's shade trees or endanger the lives of valuable horses.

MTSADA SORAKICHI, THE "JAP"

He Has What is Thought to Be the Quick Consumption—A Physical Wreck.

Mtsada K Sorakichi, the "Jap," has probably wrestled his last match He claims that he only has a serious cold but it is safe to say that he is afflicted with that dread disease—consumption

He caught cold at Seattle something over a week ago, and neglecting it it settled on his lungs He made an engagement with Manager John Cort to give a week's exhibition wrestling with Peter Shumacher claiming that he was in condition The first few nights of his exhibition were fair but toward the last of the week he was so weak that he could hardly walk on the stage

Sunday night he made his appearance but should not have gone on the stage. He could hardly talk and it was painful to hear his coughing and wheezing while wrestling. Shumacher handled him as he would an infant. The latter won the first fall and it was made up that the 'Jap' was to have the next, but after slowly moving around for a minute and a half, he deliberately rolled over on his back and gave up the contest much to the disgust of the audience

Those who saw him when he was here with James Faulkner several months ago would not know Sorakichi in his present condition A reporter who knows him quite well did not at first recognize him last Sunday night His is the end of the majority of his profession Dissipation has done its work and the end is not far off

TWO YOUNG LARCENISTS.

They Appropriated Articles Not Their Own From a Burning Albina House

Ben Deering and William Russell were arrested Sunday night on a charge of larceny This is the case in which the police declined to tell a reporter what the nature of the charge was

The complaint was made by J Schrantz, whose house was burned Sunday evening between the hours of 7 and 8 Russell and Deering, with several others had assisted in removing furniture from the house, and while engaged in this charitable work appropriated several articles belonging to Mr Schrantz When they were arrested there was found on them a pair of opera glasses a gold neck chain and a diamond pin all of which was identified by Schrantz as belonging to him They were examined by Judge Tanner yesterday and waived examination to appear before the grand jury Their bail was fixed at $500 in each case

THINKS IT IS A MISTAKE

Ex Commissioner Stockslager Don't Think Doug Taylor Is to Be Removed

Ex C ... W Stockslager, ex commissioner of the general land office ... was in the city yesterday, and was seen in his rooms at the Esmond, ... by a reporter.

Mr Stockslager is a spare built, sandy whiskered gentleman of apparently 45 years, with an earnest quiet bearing

"This is my first visit to this section of our great country " said he, and every change of scene has been a revelation to me I am both surprised and pleased at the magnitude of the resources of this wonderful country "

"Your present visit is purely personal?"

Yes It is however in reality only the carrying out of a plan I formed in the spring of 1888, when in charge of the general land office I became convinced that in no way so well as by personal inspection could one in charge of the land department be able rightly to comprehend and properly to adjust those ... their just claims in the varying conditions of ... of the country, imposed upon one in that position

It was with this in view that I made arrangements with Secretary Vilas to make an inspection tour of the land offices. We kept waiting for congress to adjourn ... and ... I did not do so until October It was then too late to undertake it My determination I am now carrying out through ... information and acquaintance will be solely of use to me in my private law practice.

TAYLOR'S RETIREMENT

Do you know anything about the prospective removal of Surveyor General Taylor?

All I know is what I have seen in your paper I do know however that while I was in the land office Mr T ... was considered among the very best officers of the department

He was uniformly considered practical and thoroughly competent You may imagine my surprise to read that charges of incompetency had been preferred against him

DON'T BELIEVE IT

"I will further say," said Mr Stockslager, "that I am satisfied there is a mistake somewhere

"First I do not believe that charges of this nature could properly be made against Surveyor General Taylor

"Secondly I am morally certain that Commissioner Groff would not give out such a piece of information to the press in advance of action on the matter by the president or the secretary of the interior Why its contrary to all usage! See what an awkward position Groff would be placed in now supposing that after the case is looked into, the president and secretary decide to take no such step Information of this nature is never given to the press in advance of final action, and I am satisfied that the news will be found to be incorrect "

THE TUGBOAT MENDELL REPAIRED

She Had a Very Narrow Escape, But is All Ready for Service Again.

The United States engineers' tugboat Mendell, which took the senatorial party from Astoria to the jetty on Friday last and which was damaged by a fire that broke out in the engine room about three hours after the party had returned to Astoria was ordered up here by Major Handbury and repaired at Steffen's yard, and has gone back to work towing barges. It is not known exactly how the fire broke out but it is supposed to have started in a box of cotton waste into which probably some of the party who visited the jetty may have dropped a cigar stump Owing to the promptness of the Astoria fire department and the officers of the boat the fire was extinguished before any serious damage was done. The steam gauges, clock and fancy work around the engine room were spoiled and one end of the room burned out, but the machinery was not damaged, and the loss will not exceed $400 No time was wasted in getting the boat ready for work again.

VERY EXPENSIVE PUBLIC WORK.

Apportioning the Cost of Building the Johnson Creek Sewer

Messrs A E Borthwick, J P O Lownsdale and T T Strube who have been steadily at work till nearly midnight five nights of every week since the 15th of September apportioning the cost of the Johnson creek sewer among the property owners benefited, will complete their wearisome job this evening

This is the largest and most expensive public work ever undertaken by the city The sewer is 5799 feet in length and will cost $69 248 85, the 8 cents being the profit of the contractors Messrs Bays & Jeffery, on the job. At least Mr Bays says he expects to have that much clear unless one of the men breaks a wheelbarrow or some other catastrophe happens Great pains have been taken to make the apportionment correctly so that all the property holders may be happy or at least shall have no just cause for complaint.

IS JAMES HORTON KNOWN HERE?

A Letter Received by the Mayor Announcing His Death in West Virginia.

The following letter which is self explanatory, has been received by Mayor DeLashmutt:

RONCEVERTE, West Va Oct. 28 1889

To the mayor of Portland Oregon Dear Sir— Yesterday morning about 6 A M a young man was found just above town on the railroad track terribly mangled and dead He was unknown to anyone in this vicinity An empty revolver was found on his person and a small grocery book which he had used as a diary On the first page a name was written, supposed to be his, James Horton, Portland Oregon and in another place, James Madison or something similar general postoffice New York city The last name was slightly blurred. The man or boy must have been not less than 18 nor more than 21 years old, of fair countenance and for a youth wrote a good hand and composed well He was undoubtedly a tramp yet so young that he may have come from good parents and had run off from home I write you this in the cause of humanity thinking that it may do some good at least it can do no harm

E THEO MILLER,

ANOTHER GOOD BUILDING.

The Old P H B Society Will Erect a Three-Story Structure to Cost $35,000.

At a meeting of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society, held yesterday evening, it was decided to proceed at once with the erection of the new hall under consideration for many months past The project has been hanging fire through the opposition of those adverse to the erection of the building so soon but last night the matter was put in shape by constituting the president, secretary, vice president and treasurer and a special committee a joint comittee with full powers to select plans and proceed with the erection of the building at once A number of plans and specifications were submitted at the meeting last night

The building will be erected on the lot owned by the society at the corner of Sixth and Washington streets It will be three stories high and will cost $35 000 The first floor will be rented out as a store the second for offices and the third will be used as the society's meeting hall.

THEY WERE ON THE WRONG SCENT

A Negro Captured and Brought to Pendleton—Not the Murderer Gibbs.

Several accounts have appeared in THE OREGONIAN about a negro who was seen near Pendleton and supposed to be the fugitive murderer Gibbs Concerning the capture of the person, the East Oregonian contains the following

Deputy Sheriff Hamilton and Harry Burroughs arrived in Pendleton this morning with the negro whom they started out Wednesday night to capture on the assurance that he was Gibbs sure! Of course he was not Gibbs—merely another 'suspect' who ... whose description, and who had the appearance of being a fugitive from justice After about a ... mile ride from Pendleton through cold and storm the officers found their man, tracking him for some distance through the snow to a little deserted cabin in Ely valley wherein he had crawled to pass the night His captors were almost certain that the fellow was not Gibbs the ... and murderer but to make assurance doubly sure concluded to bring him to Pendleton thinking perhaps that he might be wanted for some other crime

The negro who is now in jail is a slim built fellow with prominent cheek bones and a wasted looking countenance covered with about three weeks growth of beard He is darker than Gibbs, and in other respects his appearance is in utter variance with the description of the escaped murderer A man who is well acquainted with the personnel of Gibbs was called in and stated positively that the negro was an entirely different individual The poor darkey is miserably clad in ragged clothing and must have suffered severely from the effects of the cold during his tramp in the mountains. He has little to say for himself

It is only another of the many cases of mistaken identity which have made a farce of the effort to bring Gibbs to justice But as nearly every other jail in the country has had a supposed Gibbs for an inmate it is only appropriate that the Pendleton skookum house' should also have that honor

A Tax That Kills.

From the Astorian

To illustrate how the mortgage tax law practically works in this state and how it retards development by rendering oppressive the use of borrowed money may be cited an instance that came under the writer's observation in this city yesterday A man who had borrowed $400 and given his note secured by a mortgage, paid the note and interest and had the mortgage released. The rate was 8 per cent the time, ten months and seven days hence the interest was $27 29, the borrower, of course, paid the tax on the mortgage $10 95. Thus the total cost was $38 24, which the man who wanted $400 for ten months had to pay, or a rate of 11 1 o per cent per annum, paid by the borrower For a shorter time the taxes would of course have been the same, and the cost, proportionately higher In Washington, the total cost to the borrower would not have been over 8 per cent Here it is virtually 1 per cent per month in such cases as the one cited, which is a fair illustration of how the law works

LAST NIGHT'S AMUSEMENTS

The First Gilmore Concert Scores a Brilliant Success.

A Fine Audience—Many Encores—"Marked for Life" a Hit at Cordray's—"The Burglar"—Milton Nobles

It needed but a glance at the splendid audience assembled within the spacious Exposition music hall last evening to satisfy the most skeptical that Portland is not behind the larger cities of the country in musical appreciation, and this fact is entitled to greater emphasis when we consider that it has been but a few days since she was regaled by a musical banquet lasting a whole month, and given by one of the celebrated bands of the country. But so great is the reputation of P. S. Gilmore's band and so general is the desire to hear and judge for themselves that by 8 o'clock fully 2000 people were seated in the hall and greeted the celebrated leader with salvos of applause as he stepped upon the platform. The members of the band had already filed in and taken their seats, the special chorus were ranged in rows one above another, behind them, and the general effect was a pleasing one.

The first number on the programme was the overture from "Tannhauser," which was given with splendid precision and an admirable blending and balancing of the brass and reed instruments. A marked feature of this, as of all the succeeding numbers, was the smoothness which characterized the general movement of the harmony and the promptness with which the several instruments responded to the baton of the leader. Gilmore is certainly a great leader. There is no fuss, no acrobatic evolution. He conducts without a note of music before him and is as easy, self contained and unexcited as though he were conducting a rehearsal.

The grand scene from "Les Huguenots," "The Benediction of the Poignards," (Meyerbeer) was perhaps the finest executed of any number on the programme. The grand harmony was brought forth with a wealth of power and expression that was simply superb. One could almost read in the majestic movement of the theme the solemn purpose of the benediction. Three enthusiastic encores were demanded at the conclusion of the number, one of which, "Pizzicato Waltz" (Strauss) was delightfully played, besides being a charming piece. "Concertstuck, opus 79," (Von Weber) was finely given, as was also a delicious morceau entitled "Valse Lente," from the ballet "Naila," (Delibes.)

The vocal portion of the entertainment was particularly enjoyable. Miss Jennie Dickerson, a lady of imposing presence, with a rich, finely trained melodious contralto sang in exquisite style the brindisi from "Lucretia Borgia," and for an encore, gave "Polly, the Cows are in the Corn," in good taste.

Signorina Clementina DeVere sang the bravura aria from "La Perle du Bresil" with a facility of execution simply superb. She possesses a soprano voice of delicious quality and range and takes her notes with a clearness and distinctness of enunciation which denote the trained artist. For an encore she gave a pretty little ballad, "No, Sir," in a manner to captivate the audience.

Signor Campanini received a generous welcome and gave the romanza from "Iphigenia" (Gluck) with almost all of his old time ability. His voice seems still the same delightful instrument we were wont to listen to in the palmy days of Italian opera, and his method is all that it ever was. He was vociferously encored and sang a charming little Italian love song in exquisite style.

On account of the illness of Signor Bologna a duett from "Aida" by Signora DeVere and Campanini was substituted for the vocal quartette and they sang it with admirable effect.

The duett for cornett, played by Mr Burt, and euphonium, by Mr Raffayolo, the "Miserere" was a most artistic and enjoyable number and for an encore they played "Robin Adair" admirably. Mr Hermann Bellstedt's cornet solo, "Centennial Polka," was enthusiastically encored and he gave "Where did you get that hat" in response. The Hallelujah Chorus from "Messiah," "Pilgrim Chorus" (Lombardi) and closing "Anvil Chorus" from "Trovatore" were all fairly well given, only the singers seemed afraid to let their voices out. As many singers as were there assembled should have made twice the amount of sound.

Mr Gilmore would have done better to have given a little higher class of music for his encores, not necessarily intricate classical music, but something a little more melodious than some of the jingle tunes he did give. The concert would have been far more enjoyable had not the hall been so insufferably cold. Everybody was shivering and if the managers of the North Pacific Exposition building intend to devote the hall to such occasions during the winter it behooves all who contemplate attending to provide themselves with foot warmers and fur overcoats.

The second concert will take place this afternoon.

"MARKED FOR LIFE."

The strong opposing attraction at the Exposition had no effect on the size of the audience at Cordray's Musee last evening, for it was filled to its utmost capacity, and the drama, "Marked for Life," with Mr Sid C. France in the role of a darkey, was received with the wildest marks of approval.

The play is full of songs, dances, laughter and amusement generally and Mr France "catches on" with his audience in great style.

Miss Lillian Lawrence as Dora, and Miss Marshall as Tatters, are especially good, while the rest of the cast fill their parts acceptably.

"Marked for Life" again to-night.

"THE BURGLAR."

"The Burglar," an original four act comedy drama, will be produced by the well known artists, Joseph Grismer, Phoebe Davies and their excellent company, at the New Park theater, tomorrow night (Wednesday) and Thursday evening. Seats on sale at Hoyt's Music store.

MILTON NOBLES.

This Portland favorite and strong company will play at Vancouver to-day, Olympia Thursday, Astoria Friday, with Seattle and Tacoma to follow. Mr Nobles is an actor who draws crowded houses everywhere, so it is safe to say he will do a good business in Washington.

EXTENSIVE RAILROAD BUILDING

From this time on until January, 1890 and thence through that year there will be more railroads built in Oregon and Washington than in any preceding year in the history of the Pacific coast. With this building will come a fabulous growth to some localities which if taken advantage of at this time will bring fortunes to those who plant their money judiciously. There are two localities that are looked upon as of no particular value at this time, yet within the next twelve months men will wonder why they did not take this item as a pointer and buy accordingly. There is a city in Union county, Oregon now, and always will be the largest city in this county which will be the recipient of railroad favors, and the individual who can separate a square hint from a newspaper advertisement will be the one who takes this one and profits by it. The other locality referred to will be [illegible] a great while, and [illegible] are now thinking of.

A Picturesque Trip

Spoiled by seasickness is a woeful disappointment. This should be guarded against. The preventive is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, whether on the broad Atlantic or some land locked bay, affords an efficient protection against or remedy for mal de mer to the voyager. THE PORTLAND WOMAN'S UNION

Various Matters of Business Transacted at the Quarterly Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

The Portland Woman's Union held its regular quarterly meeting at 3 P. M., yesterday afternoon, at the Unitarian chapel with the following members present: Mrs. H. J. Corbett, Mrs C W Knowles, Mrs F Eggart, Miss Dr Welty, Mrs A Holbrook, Mrs A. Andrews, Miss Lewis, Mrs Dekum, Mrs Shanahan, Mrs Hoffman, Mrs. Northrup, Mrs. Labbe, Mrs. Durham, Mrs. Bellinger, Miss Thompson, Miss Falling, Mrs Cran, Mrs Atwood, Mrs White, Mrs Harris, Mrs Hogue, Mrs Nicols, Miss Hodgdon, Mrs Congle, Mrs Ordway, Mrs Warren, Mrs Pittock and Mr H E Jones. The president Mrs Burrell being absent Mrs H J Corbett, second vice president filled the chair.

The secretary's report of the last meeting was read and approved, also that of the treasurer, who reports a small balance of cash on hand. The chairman of the finance committee reported having received in subscriptions and by cash $1000 toward the purchasing of the property now occupied by the Woman's Union Home.

The work still goes on with every prospect of the whole amount $7500, being soon subscribed.

The building committee report that several architects have been consulted and plans for the much needed addition to the Portland Woman's Boarding House were submitted. The report was adverse to the building at present owing to different obstacles in the way of obtaining materials, etc. The lateness of the season being one great difficulty it was moved and carried that the same committee remain in office until such time as operations may begin and obstacles be overcome. Mrs Eggart on behalf of the building committee gave a detailed explanation of the plans and specifications of the proposed improvements.

The following report of the household committee was then submitted by Dr Emma J Welty:

Mrs President and Ladies:—As your committee, we have to report of our work continued prosperity and good cheer and the old story of an overflowing house and lack of accommodations. I need not report particularly, as it is a want about to be relieved.

We have found that it is scarcely possible to keep a home such as we have, entirely for young women and that we must open our doors to self supporting women of all ages, but in our present limited capacities we give young and unprotected women the preference. We look forward to the time when our house will be ample to accommodate all who apply to us for room, who rightly belong to us—the convalescents dismissed from the hospitals, who have neither home nor abiding place, until they are sufficiently recovered to return to work; women from eastern cities, who came here thinking at once to find work; girls from the country who seek the city with mistaken notions of what it has in store for them away from home restraints and easily influenced; women variously worn, discouraged, without money and friendly helpfulness. We wish to have rooms for a limited number of good nurses, where they can be found at all times by those in need of their services. We want, in short, to provide a home, at a reasonable outlay of money, for the large number of bread earning women in our city. By our next annual meeting we hope to have under way at least the proposed addition to our house, giving us more rooms, a larger kitchen and dining room, laundry, etc.

We have to thank the public for various donations. We wish a word of thanks to our butcher and grocer, and to friends for books, pictures, etc. To the gentlemen and friends who have subscribed to pay the indebtedness upon our property we are under obligations. We hold in grateful memory Miss Ellen Smith, whose bequest we hope to make use of in such a way that it may be an abiding honor to the memory of the modest spirit who moved so quietly among us.

The past month has certainly been one of encouragement, and I must again ask the members of the union to give it their support, not only with money, but with their intimate thoughtful friendliness.

EMMA J WELTY,
Chairman Household Committee.

The educational committee report the night school open under favorable auspices, and all women are invited to avail themselves of its advantages.

All matters of business being adjusted the meeting was adjourned, to meet again the first Monday in February.

JUDGE TANNER'S MONDAY LEVEE

The Dock Full as Usual on the First of the Week

At yesterday's session of the police court the dock was as usual on Monday filled by a batch of minor offenders. Judge Tanner disposed of the following cases: George Mason, George Brown, William Wallace, James Mulligan, James Brown, John Stewart, Joe Wells, Jack McGintry, John Richmon, Herman Schultz and John Brown, simple drunks, were fined $5 each. Allen C Carr, also a simple drunk, was assessed $10 for using abusive language to the arresting officer. Lawrence Comford, a drunk, pleaded not guilty, but could not explain his presence asleep under the Union freight depot, and he was fined $10. Ed Brown and W S McCabe, drunk and disorderly, $10 each.

Christian Dehts, also drunk and disorderly, was fined $20. This man proved so unruly that the officer arresting him was compelled to call to his assistance Deputy Sheriff Fitzsimmons. Dehts while being brought to the jail drew a knife from his pocket and cut the deputy sheriff across the hand, inflicting a painful wound. He then threw the knife away, but swore positively in the police court that he never possessed such a knife.

Thomas Callahan, charged with being disorderly by fighting, failed to appear when his name was called, forfeiting his bail of $20. M J Murphy, another fighter, was let off with a $5 fine, it being his first offense. John Carter was arrested for permitting his stock to roam at large upon the public streets and deposited $10 bail, which sum he forfeited.

The cases against John Bridgefield, who unlawfully built a fire on an improved street, and Al Sav, for peddling vegetables without a license, were continued till to-morrow. Frank Kenny, for committing trespass by sleeping in a barn at the foot of Columbia street without the owner's permission, was fined $10. Ah Jung, a Chinese grass cutter, was arrested Saturday last by Captain Gritzmacher for throwing grass in the street. He showed that he had the permission of the owner of the building to throw the grass in the street. Owing to the culprit's ignorance of the law bearing on this subject, he was let off with the lowest fine, $5, which his employer paid. Harry Swan, assault and battery on H E Quinn, $20.

TYPHOID FEVER.

The Germs Are Carried in Polluted Milk

A well known physician of Portland of high standing sends the following note for publication:

Noticing an article in THE DAILY OREGONIAN of Nov 4 upon the causes of this disease and feeling certain that one of the main causes, if not the sole cause, of the present run of the disease in this city has not yet been mentioned, I wish to offer a few words upon this subject.

The subject was emphasized in a discussion that took place in the Oregon State Medical Society at its last meeting. So important was this matter that a committee was appointed to examine and report upon it. The committee have not reported yet, and I am informed by the secretary that the transactions are held back awaiting this report. It refers to the quality of the milk furnished to the people.

In the discussion before the society a large number of cases were reported directly traceable to the milk furnished by one milk man. In this instance there had been a case of typhoid fever in the family of the milk man.

An inspection of nine of the milk ranches near the city will convince the most casual observer that healthy milk cannot come from such a mess. On one of the small creeks entering the city are located several ranches. In one of these a large number of cows are kept. The herd may be called healthy, at least they appear so, but they cannot be so, nor is it possible for them to furnish pure milk. The only water the cows have to drink is from a stream so polluted that the water has a bad odor. The creek is full of excrement and is in every way unfit for drinking purposes.

And as if this were not enough, the excrements from the cows and from the family are drained directly in the drinking water not fifty feet from the barn. So offensive is this place that the stench is almost unbearable and can be noticed half a mile.

No doubt the cow will do the best she can to furnish a pure article of diet, yet it is impossible for her to overcome such obstacles. Also at a large number of ranches (it would be a misnomer to call them dairies) the cows are fed on brewers' malt.

It is a well recognized fact that to have pure milk the cows must be healthy, must be furnished with clean, well ventilated buildings, fed on good, pure healthy food and have pure water to drink. It is also a well recognized fact that typhoid fever and other diseases are transmitted to the human race by the use of milk contaminated by germs of such diseases. An inspection of such ranches by a committee competent to report upon them would startle the people into wondering not why we have so much typhoid fever, but why have we not ten cases where we now have one.

Portland is naturally a very healthy place and I have local pride as well as motives of humanity in keeping the city in a healthy condition. As there are more causes at work we may look into them at another time.

A BOOM IN "JERUSALEM."

The magnificent exhibition of the City of Jerusalem is attracting immense crowds of visitors and there is but one opinion, and that is that a more beautiful work has never been seen in this country. Everything about the place is neat and attractive and the exhibition is one that everyone should see. It is especially interesting and instructive to children, and no greater treat could be given them than to visit Jerusalem.

EAST SIDE CITY FATHERS.

An Interesting and Important Meeting Held Last Night.

The Treasurer's Report Submitted—Tax Roll—Totals of the Assessment—Janitor's Salary—Various Other Matters Considered

The common council held its regular meeting last night with Mayor Steward in the chair and all the councilmen present. J. T. Mayo, the new recorder, occupied his chair for the first time. When the mayor's gavel came down the council chamber was pretty well filled with interested spectators. After reading the interesting minutes of the past three meetings the council settled down to business.

TREASURER'S REPORT

W. D. Pape, the city treasurer submitted his report for the quarter ending November 1 and the following are the balances on hand:

Indebtedness fund	$3,713 41
Street repair fund	29 03
General fund	1916 35
Street improvement fund	1 44 54
Survey deposit fund	10 00
Total	$5973 56

The report was ordered filed.

THE TAX ROLL

H. H. Holmes, city assessor, submitted his report, which was as follows: "I beg leave to hand to you the city tax roll for 1889, which I trust will be found satisfactory. The following are the totals from the assessment roll: Values, lands, $70 0 0; lots, $2 1[illegible] 80; improvements, $109 580; personal property, $384 410; gross value of all property, $4 1[illegible]6 620; net taxable value of all property, $3 [illegible]2,0[illegible]."

The amount that will accrue from a 7 mills tax for the fiscal year will be $[illegible] 715 37.

The city attorney was instructed to draw an ordinance making the assessment.

RAILWAY ORDINANCE PASSED

An ordinance amending the franchise of the Willamette Bridge Railway Company and granting an enlarged route was passed. The route has been published heretofore and the only change is that the parts which read "along Sixteenth street from G to H," and "on H street to the city limits," were stricken out. The conditions imposed were that said company shall pay yearly $50 to be applied to the repair of the Fifth street bridge across Sullivan's gulch, and also that it pay $,000 whenever the common council shall order the construction of a new bridge at this point. Furthermore, that it dedicate for a street a fraction of block 29 McMillen's addition, between the lines of William street, if extended, to B street.

CROSSWALKS

It was ordained that all crosswalks hereafter laid down shall be six feet in width, constructed of plank four inches thick, and as long as the crosswalk, and that they shall be laid with the line of the middle of the sidewalk. Such crosswalks shall rest upon sills six feet long, twelve inches wide, and four inches thick, well imbedded in the earth, and there shall not be less than seven sills. The covering plank shall extend to within three feet of the curb and every plank shall be of sufficient length to reach from one span to the other and shall connect with sidewalks by spans four feet long, and of the same width as such crosswalk, of three inch plank.

REMONSTRANCES, PETITIONS, ETC

A document was submitted by R. L. Hawthorne, remonstrating against any car line passing through the asylum grounds east of Tenth street and from O street to Hawthorne avenue; referred to the city attorney.

A remonstrance was also read from property owners against the improvement of C street, in McMillen's addition; filed.

A petition was read from Buchtel & Mall asking for the vacation of a street between Ninth and Tenth on Brooklyn; referred to the street committee.

THE JANITOR'S SALARY

Councilman Murphy wanted to know by what authority a janitor is paid a salary for keeping the council chamber, when it is the duty of the marshal to do this work. The mayor said he presumed the committee recommending the payment for the services of a janitor had arranged the matter. The bill was ordered paid, Murphy voting against it.

VALUE OF A BOND

While the council was discussing the value of a bond in considering the Willamette Bridge railroad ordinance, Councilman Murphy remarked that the bonds that the city has required were of small value and that one company had said that the city might go to h—l, so far as the bond is concerned.

SURVEYOR'S SALARY

The ordinance fixing the salary of the city surveyor at $1,00 per annum was passed. He is required to devote all of his time to the city.

STREET EXTENSION

The recorder was instructed to give notice of the filing of the surveyor's report on the opening and extension of A and Third streets.

I STREET WARRANTS

The judiciary committee reported, recommending that the I street warrants be paid out of the indebtedness fund; adopted.

VIEWERS APPOINTED

John H. Hall, Ross Merrick and C. N. Rankin, were made viewers on the opening and extension of Clinton street.

DEPUTY MARSHAL APPOINTED

Policeman Cox was appointed deputy marshal during the absence of Marshal Morgan.

OPINIONS OF PORT TOWNSEND

What Portland People Think of Investment There

On Sunday afternoon a party of well known gentlemen together with their wives happened to meet at the residence of one of the number, at which home all were paying a Sunday afternoon visit. While thus together, as usually occurs among gentlemen, the subject of successful speculation in real estate was discussed when the conversation turned on Port Townsend. This reference was occasioned by the query of one of the party: "If the reported sales of acre property in Port Townsend had been as great as THE OREGONIAN stated?" Open declaration was made that every statement was true as to the amount sold, and one of the gentlemen enumerated buyers and amounts as coming within his own knowledge, which aggregated over $1[illegible]0 000, while two of these five gentlemen had themselves been buyers at Port Townsend, one in twenty acres, another in ten acres. Another fact was unearthed, viz: That one of these five had invested some $2,[illegible]00 in Port Townsend lots about one year ago and that he had already sold less than half of his property there and had realized on this half over $5,000. The result of this conference will add three more buyers of Port Townsend property, and it proves also that to-day Port Townsend property is gilt edge and the most promising in future profit of any property in the market to-day. If this property has been good in the past it will be much better in the future as the U. P. railroad will commence building there right away. Mr. F. E. Clarke, a citizen of that thriving young city, sold several acres on yesterday morning before 10:30 o'clock. He finds it easy work to sell his property, and the same is true with Mr. Ward.

What a Difference between the WOMAN who is wedded to old-fashioned ideas and she who is bright enough to appreciate a new one. Everybody is striving to get something to make life easier—often it's right beside them—those who are bright enough to embrace it get the benefits, those who don't go backwards—their work grows harder. Pearline makes life easier and cleaner. Washing and cleaning done with Pearline has about enough work in it to make it good exercise—but not enough to tire the body or ruffle the temper.

Not ours, but the word of the millions who use it as to whether it hurts the hands, clothes or paint—probably your neighbors can tell you all about PEARLINE.

Send it back. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, the honest thing to do is—send it back.
